

Johnson Plan For Tax Slash Wins Support

President Proposes
One-Step Reduction
In Withholding Rate

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's plea for enactment of a one-step reduction in the income tax withholding rate appears likely to win congressional approval.

Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., a senior member of the Finance Committee now considering the $11 billion tax cut bill, told a reporter he thought the request would easily command the needed votes.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee, who will head his branch's conferees on the measure, indicated in a separate interview that he was willing to support it.

Lower Withholding
As the bill passed the House and now stands in Finance, it provides for a cut in the present 13 per cent withholding rate to 15 per cent this year, with a new permanent level of 14 per cent to start in 1965.

Johnson wants a one-step drop to 14 per cent.

If Johnson's argument carries, a married man with wages of $120 a week who claims exemptions for himself, his wife and two children would get take-home pay increase of $2.80 a week. While $12.80 is now withheld for income tax, the figure would be reduced to $10 under a 14 per cent withholding rate.

Really Moving
The Senate committee continues its work on the bill today, with administration supporters hoping the fast pace of the last two days can be maintained.

Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., said Thursday: "I think we're really moving now — we've covered more than 60 pages" of the 310-page bill.

Johnson told a citizens committee plugging for the tax bill Thursday that he wants the measure passed by the Senate before that body gets tangled up in a filibuster over civil rights. "Every hour of delay on the tax measure 'can keep many jobs away from many people' for many weeks," the President declared.

$40,000 Fire at Downer College

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A $40,000 fire at a Milwaukee Downer College dormitory Thursday left 52 Peace Corps trainees without housing but no one was injured.

The trainees were taking an examination in another building when the blaze started in the basement and spread upward through the walls of the three-story brick building. Cause of the fire was not determined.

The trainees, who are scheduled to leave for Peru March 19, will be housed elsewhere.

The dormitory is rented by the adjacent University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee for use of the Peace Corps.

Nations Dealing With Castro Barred From Trade With Venezuela

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — With Britain, Canada and Spain as his chief targets, President Romulo Betancourt told a news conference Thursday night nations that do business with Cuba won't be allowed to trade with Venezuela.

Betancourt, one of Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro's bitterest enemies, cited sales of British buses and Spanish and Canadian ships to Cuba.

Report Expected to Assert Cigarettes Are Health Threat

Committee's Findings Will Cover All Effects of Smoking

BY W. JOYNES MACFARLAN

Senate Group to Confer on Crisis In Canal Zone

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., called a meeting of the Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee on Latin-American affairs for today for a quick briefing on the crisis in Panama.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee said it probably would hold a meeting with Secretary of State Dean Rusk soon to ask him to bring members up to date on Panama and other situations in the world.

Rep. Armistead Selden, D-Ala., chairman of a House subcommittee on inter-American affairs, questioned whether the rioting was spontaneous.

"It appears to me that this tragic incident, serving as it does the ulterior purposes of the Castro - Communist movement in Latin America, has been deliberately contrived both to embarrass and to test the new Johnson administration's policy in that area."

However, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., assistant Senate majority leader, and Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., were inclined to place the major share of blame on American students, for violating an agreement under which the Panamanian flag was to fly wherever the U.S. flag was flown in the Canal Zone.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government report on smoking and health to be made public Saturday is expected to point an accusing finger at cigarettes as a health hazard.

Unlike a 1959 report which dealt only with smoking and lung cancer, the new report prepared by a special committee of 10 nongovernment scientists will deal with all the effects of smoking on human health—on the lungs, heart, and circulatory system.

The conclusions will be based on scientific findings which in the main have been publicized previously.

News Conference Planned
Surgeon General Luther L. Terry will hold a news conference to state the Public Health Service's position on the report, in the works 14 months.

Terry, who appointed the committee members, also is expected to outline plans for a second phase of the study — to be concerned with recommendations for action.

When the 1959 report was issued Leroy E. Burney, then the surgeon general, said in a statement: "Unless the use of tobacco can be made safe, the individual person's risk of lung cancer can best be reduced by the elimination of smoking."

Further, Burney said the weight of evidence implicated smoking — particularly cigarette smoking—as the principal causative factor in the increased incidence of lung cancer.

Industry Disagrees
The tobacco industry claims, however, that a causative connection between smoking and impaired health has not been proved.

In a report released Thursday at Greensboro, N.C., the nation's tobacco companies claimed the vast majority of smokers suffer no serious impairments of health or shortening of life.

A Health Service spokesman said the new government report will be mailed to every physician and osteopath in the country. It also will be sent to all governors, state health officials, and to officials of other interested organizations.

The committee was asked to study not only the impact of smoking on health but also all other factors that may be involved, such as air pollution and automobile exhausts.

Oswald's Kin Don't Agree On His Guilt

BY BLAIR JUSTICE

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) —

The question of whether Mrs. Lee Harvey Oswald believes her husband killed President John F. Kennedy revived raw feelings that split the Oswald family four days after the assassination.

After Oswald was fatally wounded by Jack Ruby Nov. 24, Secret Service agents took the accused assassin's widow, mother and brother to a motel in suburban Arlington.

There a heretofore undisclosed drama was played out, involving the family, Secret Service agents and a few of Oswald's friends.

Mother Disagrees
The mother and daughter-in-law parted in separate directions. This week, their differences were bared again.

Marina, the pretty Russian-born widow, said she was convinced of her husband's guilt. Oswald's mother said Marina must be confused.

Last November at the motel,

Faces Trial in Husband's Death

MANITOWOC (AP) — Mrs. Margaret Kanzelberger, 63, was bound over for trial Thursday after four witnesses testified she admitted striking her husband with a wooden club on the night that he was found fatally beaten.

Mrs. Kanzelberger is accused of murder in the death of her 61-year-old husband, George, who was found in their Two Rivers home Nov. 19. She appeared in the lower branch of County Court for a preliminary hearing.

Judge Harold Mueller bound her over for trial. Mrs. Kanzelberger was quoted as saying her husband frequently beat her, "but this time I hit him first."

Cuban Sugar Crop Smallest in Years

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Cuba, once the world's greatest sugar bowl, this year will harvest her smallest crop in 21 years, exiled planters estimated today.

The harvest, just begun, was estimated at 3 million metric tons on the basis of a survey by the Sugar Planters Association of Cuba in exile. A metric ton is 2,200 pounds.

Man Dies After Being Hit by Elevator Gate

Michael J. Lutz
Killed in Accident
At Valley Iron

Michael J. Lutz, 50, 617 Ridge Lane, a journeyman molder at Valley Iron Works, died of crushing head injuries he received when a metal freight elevator gate struck him in the head shortly after 9 a.m. today, according to Deputy Coroner Joseph L. Benton.

Lutz, who had been alone on the elevator when the accident occurred, was dead on arrival at St. Elizabeth Hospital. The man had been employed at Valley Iron Works since August, 1962.

Company officials said Lutz apparently had entered the freight elevator on the second floor of the foundry area building shortly before his 9 a.m. lunch break. The man apparently was going to the first floor to eat his lunch, officials said.

Gate Falls
As the elevator lowered to the first floor, the wire gate on the first floor automatically was raised by the weight of the elevator. Officials said Lutz had stopped the elevator and was leaving it when the gate crashed down, striking Lutz and pinning him to the bottom of the elevator. Employees working nearby rushed to free the man from under the gate.

Lutz was taken to the hospital by Lindy's Ambulance Service and then transferred to the Bretschneider Funeral Home.

Ironically, about 90 minutes after the fatal accident at the elevator gate, a tow truck being operated near the accident scene, was backed against the elevator gate and crashed into the elevator. No one was injured in the second accident. Workers were using cutting torches to remove the tow truck from the metal gate.

ICC Chairman
Sees Railroads
As 'Healthy'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission took a long look at the nation's railroad industry today and declared the patient healthy and sound.

"They'll never be obsolete, no, sir," declared Abe McGregg, 64, Idaho Republican, who assumed the chair of the 11-man commission Jan. 1.

"The railroads have had a tremendous increase in long-haul traffic," McGregg said in an interview. "I won't make any specific predictions about the future, but all of our railroads are in much healthier shape than they were last year at this time."

3 Soldiers, 7 Panamanians Killed, at Least 224 Hurt, Including 34 Servicemen

PANAMA (AP) — New gun fighting broke out today between U. S. troops and Panamanians on the border of the U. S. Canal Zone, adding more casualties to a toll of 10 dead and more than 200 wounded.

Among the dead were three U. S. soldiers. Thirty-four U. S. soldiers were wounded in the first fighting last night. There were 190 casualties.

Panama suspended relations with the United States and accused it of aggression. The fighting broke out last night when Panamanian students tried to plant their nation's flag in the U. S.-controlled Canal Zone. They acted after U. S. students raised the American flag in defiance of American officials.

Panama's government accused the United States of aggression and sent its case to international forums after rioting broke out when Panamanian demonstrators tried to plant their national flag in the Canal Zone.

Panama's ambassador to the United Nations, Aquilino Boyd, was en route to U.N. headquarters to file the charges of aggression with the U.N. Security Council.

In bitter words he told newsmen at Miami: "Panama has been the victim of unjustified oppression for 50 years."

PANAMA (AP) — Five Panamanians were reported killed and 96 wounded in new gun-fighting today with U.S. troops on the order of the U.S. Canal Zone. This brought the death toll in the violence which erupted Thursday night to 15, including three U.S. soldiers.

When the U.S. casualties mounted to four wounded, an army statement said, "The order was given to return the work was given to return the men were using cutting torches to remove the tow truck from the metal gate."

The army selected trained

Army officials stressed the point that none of its forces entered Panama territory during three to four hours of severe exchange of gunfire.

Johnson and Chiari Confer By Telephone

President Tries
For Settlement of
Crisis in Panama

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson conferred by telephone today with President Roberto Chiari of Panama, in an effort to settle peaceably the crisis in Panama.

Johnson initiated the 15-minute telephone conference Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, declined to give details of the conversation, except to say:

"The two presidents agreed there had to be a stop to the violence in the Canal Zone."

Almost simultaneously, Johnson sent a group of U.S. officials to the Canal Zone by jet transport.

The leader of the delegation is Thomas C. Mann, the new assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs.

Mann is expected to confer personally with Chiari about the fighting that has flared since last night between Panamanians and American troops and police guarding the Canal Zone.

Johnson telephoned Chiari at 11:35 a.m. EST, shortly after winding up a 90-minute policy conference with top military, diplomatic and intelligence advisers.

Johnson Talk Description of Utopian State

People Requested to Accept, Continue on Platitudes of Hope

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — President Johnson has just delivered to Congress not so much a message on the "State of the Union" as an alluring description of a utopian state.

The president spoke of the "unprecedented progress of our free-enterprise economy over the last three years," and said that wages, profits and family income are "at their highest level in history." He nevertheless thought it necessary to declare "unconditional war on poverty in America."

Though speaking of the United States as "the richest nation on earth," Mr. Johnson, even more than his predecessor, emphasized poverty as a national problem. He did not define this explicitly, but in general terms. He said his purpose was "to help that one-fifth of all American families with incomes too small even to meet their basic needs."

Basic Needs
The question remains, however, as to what are really the "basic needs" and what persons can accurately be described as poverty-stricken. The president seems to think that the cause of the poverty is "in a lack of education and training, in a lack of medical care and housing, in a lack of decent communities in which to live and bring up their children." But, surprisingly enough, the president made no mention of weakness in individual character and, in many cases, an inherited incapacity to equal the achievements of one's average fellow man.

No doubt there are communities in which poverty occurs, just as there are "distressed areas" where some unemployment prevails, and relief should be provided. But it is regrettable that not enough emphasis has been placed upon individual responsibility and also on the most effective way to create jobs. The president rightly said:

War on Poverty
"For the war against poverty will not be won here in Washington. It must be won in the field—in every private home, in every public office, from the courthouse to the White House." But there was one omission. Mr. Johnson did not mention the need to remove the barriers that the private-enterprise system faces every day in the creation of new jobs. About the only reference to job creation in the president's speech was the mention of the $11-billion tax reduction over the next two years. He spoke of it as providing "investment incentives." But in the same address to Congress the president repeated an error which has often been noted in past administration policies—namely, a recommendation that laws be passed which cannot but have the effect of frustrating the development of the free-enterprise system.

Overtime Rates
Mr. Johnson recommended legislation, for example, to authorize the creation of committees on an industry-by-industry basis which would have the authority to put into effect higher rates for overtime. The theory is that this would serve as a penalty for use of overtime and create more jobs. But to tell the managers of free enterprise in America that they must eliminate overtime in order to create new jobs is equivalent to telling them that they must accept government dictation in work schedules or pay higher rates for unavoidable overtime.

There are many industries in which a few hours of overtime work is all that is necessary. In those cases where one or two shifts—with perhaps a small amount of overtime—can perform the required work, it seems incredible that any business would, on its own, choose to use large amounts of overtime at rates of time-and-a-half per hour when a new shift of employees can be put on at the regular wage rates.

Economic Partisanship
But the proposal illustrates the tendency here to deal with questions on the basis of economic partisanship. For the increase of overtime rates is something which the unions have advocated, not necessarily to produce more jobs but to increase the income of the regular employees. In most instances, the effect probably would be to give higher incomes to the regular employees who work overtime rather than to create places for new workers.

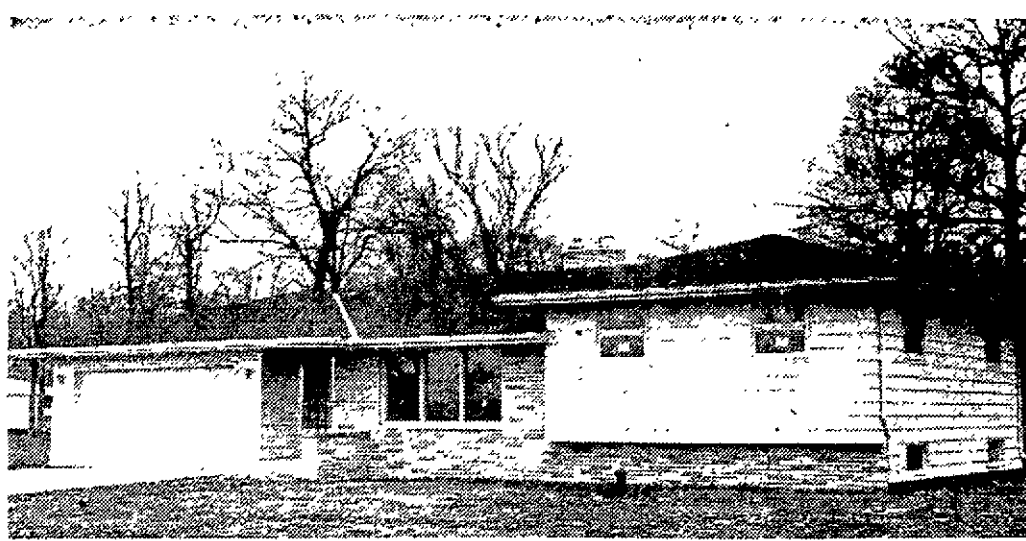

There were many proposals in the president's address, nearly all couched in very general terms. The statement of the aims of the United States in foreign policy is in line with that of preceding administrations. There have always been proclamations of high purpose—to curtail and even abolish big armament, to enlarge world trade, and to strengthen the ability of free nations to raise their standard of living through an efficient foreign-aid program.

But the big difficulty is in the method and formula to be used to accomplish such high-sounding purposes. Thus, the president declared that the United States "must be constantly prepared for the worst and constantly acting for the best." He added that we "must be strong enough to win any war, and we must be wise enough to prevent one."

Nothing New
So there really was no new contribution to internal policy. In fact, there was little new on the domestic side either. For while the president promised "a progressive administration which is efficient and honest and frugal," the budget in the coming fiscal year will involve a deficit of $4.9 billion.

It is true that the earlier estimates were higher, but, unfortunately, a fiscal system is not measured by the size of the estimates or the theoretical economies achieved when estimates are finally cut down. The fact remains that America is to run on a deficit budget in the years to come, and not a single word in the president's message gave any indication of when a balanced budget will be achieved. So the people of the United States are asked to continue to accept the platitudes of hopefulness—that some day the millennium will arrive.

Daughter Bakes Cookies Not Even Her Mother Can Love

BY DR. EVE JONES
Dear Dr. Jones: What should I do when my daughter makes cookies not even a mother can love?

She's six years old and she's very good at helping me grease pans and stir cake batter and roll crust or cookie dough. But when she helps me with cookies that get rolled in the hands, she turns out a gritty, grey lump that's a horrid mess to look at when it comes out of the oven.

My dilemma is that I want her to practice baking. I want her company, and I want her to feel free to play with the dough I give her, but I don't want to eat those icky things she makes and I can't avoid hurting her feelings when I don't. What to do? MRS. P.L.

When you're baking cookies, give her some dough and tell her it's for her to practice with. Show her how to shape it skillfully. But tell her you don't think she has had enough practice to turn out a nice, clean, tender cookie that you'd be happy to eat.

By drawing the distinction between playful efforts and actual accomplishments, you help her understand why you are proud of her attempts to bake cookies, but not eager to eat the product she turns out. And the only feelings that will get hurt are some unimportant prides that you have mistakenly encouraged by praising her for the wrong thing.

Dear Dr. Jones: Before we redecorated my 9-year-old daughter's bedroom, we let her choose the colors and fabrics. But when it was finished last week, she said it looked horrible and she hates it.

I admit it isn't very attractive because she insisted on colors that really didn't blend well. But I think there's a matter of principle involved here, don't you? So I think we should make her live with it until at least a year has passed.

MRS. P.A.
How about relenting just a little and eliminating the colors that jar the most? It's expecting too much to give a child this age total responsibility for making her bedroom and then force her to live in it.

Next time, by the way, make a paper model room with the colors she selects, so she can get a better idea of what it will look like. Even experienced interior decorators rely on models, not their imagination.

$145,000 BUYS JEWELLED CROWN
BALLYHOOD WORTH $4,500,000

DEAR CY:
In 1959, when a charity exhibited the heavily jewelled Crown of Andes, tickets were sold to see it. More money was made than with any previous fund raising event. According to their promotion, this crown, on the head of a statue of the Virgin in Colombia, South America, for three centuries, was valued at $4,500,000. I am shocked to learn the Crown of Andes was sold in New York City to a Dutch diamond firm for only $115,000. Has the value of diamonds I own dropped?

DEAR JOE:
Two large interstate bus lines, Continental Trailways and Greyhound, offer a "99-99 deal." For $89 you can travel anywhere in the U.S.A. via their buses, stopping off as often as you like within 99 days. You could ride from New York City to Chicago and make the following stops: Omaha, Denver, Salt Lake City, Seattle, San Francisco, Los Angeles, San Diego, Flagstaff, Las Vegas, Albuquerque, Dallas, St. Louis, Memphis, New Orleans, Miami, Jacksonville, Charleston, Washington, D.C., Philadelphia and back to Manhattan... for $89 in bus fares.

DEAR VOGEL:
Possessors of mounted precious stones can balk at the value their conscience approves. Appraisal can include antique value, sentimental attachment, historical significance and beauty of the mounting. Only when the piece is on the block does the true value of the jewels shimmer in daylight. The mounting counts for nix. A diamond expert tells me, "I've opened to Americans over 65 seen the Crown of Andes, and presently all age barriers the only thing impressive about the stones was the promotion behind them. They weren't the greatest."

'Moment of Truth' Reached On Vocational Schools

Board President Tells Members Decision on Recommendations For New Facilities Needed Soon

BY JACQUELINE FIX
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The "moment of truth" for a decision on new vocational school facilities for Appleton and the Fox Cities area has been reached, George Howden, president, told the Appleton Board of Vocational and Adult Education Thursday.

The board outlined Appleton's need for expanded vocational school facilities, probably on a new site, and state recommendations for development of area vocational education for the Fox Cities, to Appleton Mayor Clarence Mitchell.

The board said more study is needed before a definite recommendation is made, but it wanted to alert the city government to the need.

The board indicated it wants to meet with representatives of the Neenah, Menasha, Kaukauna and Kimberly vocational and adult schools to discuss the possibilities of area development.

Determination Soon

The decision on expansion and location of new facilities is one we will have to live with for a long time, not something that will tide us over for 5 to 10 years," Howden said. The board would like further study on whether expansion should be at the present site or a new location, but "a determination will have to be made quite soon," he said.

Planning Unit Names Building Code Panel

Chairman Says Move Resulted From Area Replies, Interest

A uniform building codes committee was appointed today by Ralph Risley, chairman of the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission.

Risley said appointment of the committee was the outgrowth of widespread interest in drafting such a code for communities in the valley.

Each city, village and town now has separate building codes several of which are outdated, Risley said.

"Differences between them make it difficult for a builder or contractor to work efficiently in more than one municipality," he said.

Purposes of the committee will be to draft a workable code to be adopted by member municipalities.

First meeting of the committee will be at 7:30 Wednesday in Home Mutual Insurance Co. building.

Risley said specific objectives of the committee would top the agenda.

Members of the committee are:

Leo Ruppert, Appleton, chairman; Robert C. McMahon, Menasha; Robert J. Van Handel, Town of Grand Chute; Melvin Siewert, Neenah; Ben Seaborne, Appleton; William Johnson, Appleton; Eugene Hietpas, Kimberly; Carl Williams, Neenah; Ernest Koerner, Menasha; Roy Winter, Appleton; Erwin J. Rehbein, Neenah; Laurel K. Heaney, Town of Neenah; and Carl W. Ploetz, Kaukauna.

Seasonal Drop Of North Central Reversed in 1963

Reversing a normal seasonal drop, North Central Airlines set records for originating and terminating passengers in December, traffic figures for the month showed today.

Exceeding the old mark set in December, 1962, originating passengers last month totaled 3,621, almost 1,000 more than the 2,650 previous mark. Terminating passengers this December totaled 3,670 compared with 2,842 in the same month 1962.

In both cases, the December totals were far ahead of November, when the drop in passengers normally begins and continues until early spring.

Originating air mail, express and freight in December also exceeded the previous December totals along with terminating air mail. Terminating express and freight, however, declined slightly.

Originating cargo compared for the two months with the 1963 figure listed first included: mail, 9,613 pounds and 7,255; express, recovery foramen at the Thil, 21,321 and 18,891; and freight, many Pulp and Paper Company, 35,761 and 33,700. Terminating cargo included: mail, 19,499 pounds and 15,815; express, 19,775 and 21,016; and freight, 20,232 and 22,482.

Originating flights in December totaled 699 and terminating flights 698.

The action was recommended by Warzyn Engineering and Service Co. Inc., Madison, about 340 feet, may cost $10 to $15 per foot, Bues said. The longest of the three shafts will run about 164 feet. The first well cost $750 to install.

Some drainage measures will be needed on Water Street, Bues said.

Democratic Leader Asked to Resign

8th District Caucus Tables Move To Oust Chairman McCormack

BY JAMES BARTELT
Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY—What was supposed to be a routine work shop caucus of Eighth District Democrats Thursday night erupted into an effort to force Robert McCormick, district party chairman, to resign. The move was tabled on a voice vote after a stormy debate.

The move to oust McCormick, Green Bay insurance man, was sponsored by a group of Marinette County Democrats still nursing a grudge from being bypassed in the appointment of a sheriff several months ago.

The group blames McCormick and J. Louis Hanson, state chairman, for having Gov. John Reynolds pass over its choice.

Reynolds appointed Raymond Mattison, Amberg, The Marinette leadership wanted Bernard Prestine, Peshigo, twice a Democratic candidate for sheriff.

At the height of the debate after the anti-McCormick resolution was introduced, Ralph Staubenmeier, Marinette County statutory party chairman, said both the voluntary and statutory committees agreed unanimously on Prestine. Not only was their choice passed over but neither Reynolds nor Hanson answered their complaint, he said.

"Far From Wholesome" "The situation is far from wholesome in Marinette County," the governor came within 500 votes of carrying the county in 1962, but I doubt very much whether he could get 500 votes now in Marinette County," Staubenmeier said.

The resolution calling on McCormick to quit was submitted by William Beckette, a past Marinette County chairman. It did not mention the sheriff appointment dispute but accused McCormick of violating the state party constitution.

The resolution said McCormick had failed to call a business district caucus every three months as required, had failed to pick an advisory committee, was deliberately by-passing county officers, and was causing "a great deal of confusion in many county party organizations."

$700 Missing McCormick's critics also wanted to know why $700 from a summer fund raising dinner was not turned into the district treasury. McCormick said it was on deposit in the district organization's name and that it earlier was decided to use part of the money for prizes in a ticket selling contest.

Twin City Postmasters To Honor Inspector

NEENAH-MENASHA — Postmaster James Omachinski of Menasha and acting Postmaster John Dachel of Neenah this morning said they and their wives will attend a retirement dinner for Jerome A. Williamson, 67, postal inspector in charge of Wisconsin, Illinois and Michigan, Saturday in Fond du Lac.

Scheduled to be held at the Hotel Retlaw Saturday evening, the dinner is being sponsored by the National Association of Postmasters of the U.S.

Power Firms To Get Rebates

Companies Will Receive Total of $162,000 in Returns

WASHINGTON — Power companies in Kaukauna, Clintonville and New London will get rebates totaling about $162,000 as a result of a ruling by the Federal Power Commission (FPC).

The FPC ruled a proposed annual wholesale electric rate by Wisconsin Michigan Power Co., Appleton, should be rejected because it unjustly discriminates between customers.

Wisconsin Michigan put the proposed increase, amounting to $233,000, or 14.7 per cent, into effect, subject to refund, in August, 1962.

Officials in New London estimated the refund at about $59,264. Clintonville's refund was expected to be about $52,800, and Kaukauna's about $50,000.

FPC Examiner William L. Ellis said the Appleton-based firm proposed the higher rates to affect nine wholesale customers, but did not include three electric cooperatives to which it sells power.

To Become Order The ruling will become a commission order if no review is initiated in 30 days.

A spokesman for Wisconsin Michigan Power Company today said at the hearing the company intended to request authority to increase electric rates for the rural cooperatives it serves, but one or the other had to be first, customers or cooperative wholesale customers.

The cooperatives claim they are outside the jurisdiction of the Federal Power Commission. The power company therefore applied for an increase to the municipal wholesale customers first.

A similar rate already has been approved by the Public Service Commission of Wisconsin and the Michigan Public Service Commission for industries which purchase directly from Wisconsin Michigan Power Co.

Will Elect Officers LITTLE CHUTE — Election of officers and directors will be held at the annual stockholders' meeting of the Little Chute Bank at 4 p.m. Tuesday at the bank building.

Police Seeking Man Collecting Bill From Dead

A "bill collector" who attempted to collect a $264 department store bill from a deceased man, is being sought for questioning by Appleton police.

A relative of the deceased said she had been approached by the "collector" who said the man had owed the bill to the H. C. Prange Co., and that he had been sent to collect it.

The woman called the department store and learned that the dead relative had cleared his account with the store before his death. Store personnel informed the woman that the description of the "collector" did not match that of the store's regular collector.

The woman said the relative had died last week while he was out of the state, and his obituary had been published in local papers.

Appleton Man Injured In Auto Accident Marvin Harris, 42, route 4, Appleton, was taken to Appleton Memorial Hospital shortly after 9:30 p.m. Thursday when the car he was driving went off State Highway 47 and hit a driveway culvert.

Harris received cuts, fractures and possible concussions.

Kept Records Since Oct. 1, the police department kept records of such complaints, including the number of the meter. Parking meter department personnel check the meter. During December there were 44 complaints. Only 10 meters were faulty.

A parking violation calls for a $1 fine.

No Reason The mayor said with ample parking available, along with rental of meter hoods, and parking permits on a monthly fee basis at the East Ramp, he saw no reason for city employees to get parking tickets.

Direct Costing Now Accepted

Accountant From New York Tells
SAM of Practice

OSHKOSH — Direct costing is now an accepted accounting practice that can give better cost control and aid in profit planning on a more practical basis. Members of the Fox Valley Chapter of the Society for the Advancement of Management were advised Thursday.

Speaking to the chapter at its dinner meeting at the Knights of Columbus Club here was Thomas Coyne, partner in the management consultant firm of Wright Associates, New York City.

Next meeting of the chapter will be Feb. 13 at the Hotel Menasha at which Robert J. Lavidge of Elrick and Lavidge Inc. Chicago, will speak on "what's ahead in distribution?" March 12 has been chosen for the all-day conference to be held at the Appleton Elks Club with the conference topic being "self improvement."

Coyne said pioneering in direct costing now is done, and this method of accounting has proven itself as a management control system. It shows what costs ought to be, compared to what they are. It is the safety key to the profit role, he said.

Sales Relation

Direct costing is related to sales and to production and has shown itself of value in internal reporting. Some firms using this plan now have been able to convert information obtained through direct costing from the internal reporting figures to external reporting for the general public.

Direct costing will show how much percentage sales you can lose before you reach the break-even point and began to show a loss. It separates the direct fixed expenses from those which are variable expenses and can give a truer picture to management, sales and production personnel, Coyne maintained.

Ten years ago only 19 firms were using direct costing and this has grown to 197 in 1959, 250 in 1962 and between 300 and 400 national corporations today. It has suddenly caught fire, he added, in citing its advantages and how it can be used in business.

locate the origin of the underground water causing it. Bues said his department has checked sewers and pipes in the area but have been unable to locate a leak.

No Heavy Rain

At times it has taken half an hour to fill a one-gallon container from the first well, Bues said, but there has been no heavy rain since the well was installed.

Warzyn's original recommendation to correct the problem last year was installation of a drainage system consisting of a 20 to 30-foot deep trench back-filled with clean sand. This would have been much more costly than the present proposal.

Warzyn recommended that the wells and drainage shafts be completed by March 15. Installation would take about a month.

New board member Frank Sorister asked what effect the slippage has had on the buildings. President George Howden said there has been no effect yet, but the board wants to take corrective measures because of the potential danger.

Street Curved

Buess said the slippage has caused a curve in Water Street that "was not there when it was built."

AVS Director Carl Bertram said the only slippage has been above the area of the concrete retaining wall. He questioned the effect the heavy wall might have had on the problem.

Harold Adams Named Chairman of Campaign For County Red Cross

Harold Adams, president of the First National Bank, Appleton, has been named chairman of advance gifts for the Outagamie County Red Cross fund drive.

The advance gifts drive will start by letter at the end of next week. The general drive will start in March.

The county goal is $33,000. The 1963 goal was $35,000, and $26,000 was collected.

The campaign will be handled by letters to businesses, followed by personal contacts, and by a door to door drive in residential areas.

Joseph Rickert is chairman of the drive and will handle the drive in areas outside of Appleton. R. L. Hamilton, co-chairman, will be in charge of the Appleton drive.

Sheboygan Mayor Cites Aims Of Proposed Planning Unit

Muuss Says Winnebago Shore, Highway Developments Top List

SHEBOYGAN—Development of the Lake Winnebago shoreline, increased agricultural services to eastern Wisconsin and better roadways between the Fox Cities and Lake Michigan are some of the leading goals of the proposed East Central Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission, according to Mayor Emil C. A. Muuss.

Muuss said the commission would devote much of its work to soil surveys to assist eastern Wisconsin farmers and to work for improved east-west highways and a superhighway from Milwaukee to the Door County peninsula.

Delegates from Appleton and cities, villages and towns in Calumet, Manitowoc, Brown, Fond du Lac, Sheboygan, Door, Kewaunee and Ozaukee counties will gather here Jan. 24 to measure interest in the new commission.

Assist Pipeline

Muuss said Appleton Mayor Clarence Mitchell and several Calumet County municipality and county officials have expressed interest in the proposed commission. Muuss said he thought the commission could assist Appleton in its Lake Michigan pipeline plans, and the commission's work in eastern Wisconsin would benefit Appleton economically.

Northern and eastern shores of Lake Winnebago can be better developed, possibly to attract tourist trade, Muuss said. He said with the inclusion of Fond du Lac County, development of the eastern shore could be done more efficiently by the commission than by a single county.

City Planner John Whitman said agriculturally, Calumet, Manitowoc, Kewaunee and Sheboygan counties are quite similar. He said through the proposed commission these counties could work together on soil surveys and other farm studies.

Whitman said this would mean extended assistance to the farmer in planning land use and crop planting programs.

Water Pollution

Controlling water pollution also would be a major project of the proposed commission, according to Whitman. He cited the Manitowoc and Sheboygan rivers as two Calumet County streams which also flow through other counties. Whitman said through cooperative planning, the commission could control pollution on these rivers better than a single county.

Muuss said accelerated road programs east of Lake Winnebago would divert a large share of the Milwaukee - Chicago tourist traffic into eastern Wisconsin. He said a seven-county commission would have strong influence in hastening legislative action on these road programs.

The commission also could help avert industrial planning problems, Muuss said. With long-range planning, the Outagamie-Winnebago counties and Manitowoc-Sheboygan counties noted that James Buckley, deputy state chairman, has just finished a report which indicated "The condition of the Eighth Congressional District was excellent."

"I have friends on both sides of this issue and I want you to know I stand with my friends," said Buckley trying to lighten the proceedings.

The affair finally was tabled on a motion of John Duffy, Green Bay McCormick was elected district chairman last June in a contest with William Cherkasky, Appleton.

The caucus, attended by about 70, also adopted a resolution to congratulate President Johnson on his appointment of David Rabinovitch as federal judge for western Wisconsin.

In opening his talk on party campaign plans for 1964, Buckley noted he was speaking in the home town of Rep. John Byrnes (R-Green Bay), who has been involved in the Mortgage Guaranty Insurance stock purchase dispute.

Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Oregon) had the best summary for Byrnes when he said "He got caught with his hands in the cookie jar and then said the cookies were for the kids." Buckley said of Byrnes' giving MGIC profits to Scholarships Inc.

Buckley predicted the re-election of Gov. John Reynolds, particularly since Republicans had admitted the good of his highway bonding program but then voted it down.

"We'll take this highway issue to the voters and win on that issue alone," he said.

Frank Sprister Takes Office as New Member Of Board for AVS

Frank Sprister took office as the new employee member of the Appleton Board of Vocational and Adult Education Thursday.

Sprister, a wire weaver at Appleton Wire Works, was sworn in for a four-year term, to replace William A. MacFarlane, who retired after 22 years on the board. Sprister was appointed by the Board of Education.

George Howden was re-elected president of the vocational school board. R. W. Mahony Sr. was elected vice president, replacing MacFarlane, and Harold O. Schroeder was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

ation would be some time in coming because of the number of communities involved, Bertram said.

The state legislature has recognized it would be unfair for a municipal institution to provide area services, and has provided additional state aids and higher tuition rates so that "Appleton taxpayers would not be subsidizing education for non-residents," Bertram said. He noted most of the school's enrollment now is in the post-high school programs, and 50 per cent of these students are not Appleton residents.

"There is little question that to provide these facilities, we cannot wait for any development on a compulsory legislative basis for area programs. I think that whatever is done has to be done on a voluntary basis," Bertram said.

MOVIE STARS ARE MORE IMMORAL THAN OTHER PEOPLE!

TRUE □ FALSE □

True. There are three reasons why movie stars are more morally vulnerable than others. First, men and women who go into motion pictures tend to need and want a great deal of personal adulation. This can lead to extreme conduct that the ordinary person is not tempted to indulge in. Secondly, a movie star's publicity agents balloon up his life so that he loses a sense of personal integrity. Third, the nature of the movie community makes it easier to step over lines of behavior that would not be allowed in your neighborhood and mine.

Do women evaluate themselves the same way as men do? Yes. No.

No. Men evaluate themselves in terms of how successful they are in their work. They value promotions and increases in pay not just for themselves, but as symbols of their success. Women, on the other hand, evaluate themselves more on the kinds of men in their lives. A woman's self-evaluation is dependent upon the kind of man poster is one who imposes upon others for the purposes of his act or conduct of an imposture is does not like to be known as his wife's husband, a woman enjoys being "Mrs. Joe Big."

Never before has the subject of teens and sex been discussed so completely, so openly.

Never before has such counsel been so necessary.

Never before have teens revealed so frankly their innermost thoughts about sex—wise and foolish, right and wrong.

Permissive or prudish parents, lessening religious authority, sexy movies, tv and paperbacks, generally looser moral codes—all combine with Nature's insistent physical urges to put more teens in trouble.

And the kinds of trouble they get into affect their whole lives, their families, the entire community.

A kooky generation? No. "A troubled generation," Ann Landers believes. "What teens need are straight answers. I believe in our teen agers—and I know most of them would fly right if they knew the score."

Ann Landers puts the answers right on the line in her new best-seller, hailed by teens, parents, doctors, the press and the clergy. It's the book everyone's talking about.

Four victories in a row and triumphs in a pair of Midwest Conference games on the road, achievements in themselves, will be forgotten when the Lawrence College basketball team entertains arch-rival Ripon Saturday night at Alexander gym.

Ripon, unbeaten conference leader, and Lawrence will meet at 7:30 p.m. In a 6 p.m. starter, the Vike and Redmen frosh teams will meet.

Top Condition

Rusk said the Vikings would be in "top physical condition for the Redmen" and the squad is expected to be ready mentally, also. Four victories in succession have given a boost to Lawrence spirits, and Rusk is hoping the uplift will be enough to carry the Vikes to an upset win.

"Ripon's strength lies in its rebounding power and defensive might," Rusk said. "If we can battle them evenly on the boards and stay out of foul trouble, we can give them a good battle," the Lawrence mentor said.

Scoring balance for Ripon is indicated in the conference statistics which show that Gary Mevis is averaging 17.7 points per game and Jack Ankerson is averaging 17.

Lawrence's Joel Ungrodt is leading the league with an average of 21.5 for four games. However, Ungrodt is the only Vike among the top 13 scorers.

Ungrodt, along with Gordy Bond and Steve Nault will probably make up the starting quintet for Lawrence on the outside. Under the basket will be Earl Hoover and sophomore Tom Steinmetz.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies announced Thursday that former major league infielder Bobby Morgan has been named manager of the club's Miami team in the Class A Florida State League.

Badgers Will Try to Get Back on Win Trail Against Northwestern

Erickson Not Worried About Team's Shooting

MADISON (AP)—Coach John Erickson is trying to whip his Wisconsin basketball team up for a winning effort at Northwestern Saturday after his Badgers were blasted twice in their opening Big Ten Conference games.

"We'll be trying to get back on the winning track," Erickson said, "and when you're losing there is nothing more difficult."

The Badgers were bombed 101-85 by Ohio State and 106-90 by Michigan State as the Wisconsin defense was unable to control taller and better shooting teams.

Against the Spartans, Wisconsin could manage only 35 baskets in 113 attempts. But Erickson contends Wisconsin is a good shooting team and the cold performance is nothing to worry about.

"It's just like golf you don't score 72 every time out," he said, "and they'll be hitting the basket next time."

Northwestern, a bit of a surprise in the early season going, will start two of the league's top scorers against the Badgers.

The Wildcats lost their conference opener to Michigan 85-73 and then upset Indiana 78-64. Rick Lopossa ranks fifth in scoring in the conference with a 25 point per game average.

Rich Falk carries a 21.5 per game average for the two conference contests—good for ninth place in the rankings.

"Northwestern has done a real good job this year," Erickson said, "and that Falk is a great shooter."

The Wildcat attack seems to have been helped by the return of Davis Cup tennis player Marty Reissen. He missed the nonconference schedule because he was in Australia for the Davis Cup matches.

Starting Lineup

Sophomore center Jim Pitts, at 6-foot-8, and Don Jackson round out the Northwestern starting lineup. Pitts has scored 87 points in nine games this year and Jackson 62.

Wisconsin has the poorest defensive average in the league after two games and ranks eighth in field goal percentage.

Erickson has spent a great deal of time on defense this week and said he is sure his team will bounce back.

"This is a young club and these men are not down," he said, "we just want to start winning."

MU's Hickey May Change Line-Up

Looks for Way to Throttle High-Scoring Musketeer '5'

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Marquette's basketball Warriors, whose offensive weapons have brought only four victories this season, meet tough Xavier Saturday night.

So impressed is Marquette Eddie Hickey at Xavier's offensive might, that he said Thursday he is contemplating several line-up changes in an effort to throttle the Musketeers who have surpassed the 100 mark four times.

Xavier, paced by 6-foot guard Steve Thomas who has a 30.7 scoring average, has won eight of its 11 starts including a recent 121-113 triumph over Detroit. Thomas hit 50 points in that game and shattered a school record.

Praises Pair
Marquette, meanwhile, suffered its most recent setback to Loyola 96-80 Wednesday night. Hickey praised the work of sophomore forward Roger Buxton and senior center Willie Kingsley as the most noteworthy.

Buxton, an injury-plagued reserve, scored nine points and performed well while guarding the Ramblers' Ron Miller.

"He'll be playing a lot for us," Buxton has been under a ter-

Strong Concordia Quint Will Invade FVL Floor Tonight

Fox Valley Lutheran Seeks To Extend Winning Streak

BY HENRY SIMON
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

"It's going to be the toughest game we've played so far this season."

That's how Fox Valley Lutheran coach Gerry Kaniess feels about FVL's game with Milwaukee Concordia here tonight, and the FVL mentor has good reason to fear the Falcons.

Concordia downed Fox Valley Lutheran twice last year, 60-43 and 49-41. The second victory came in the Wisconsin Lutheran Invitational Tournament held here, and CHS went on to take the tourney crown. FVL won consolation honors.

Five-Game Streak
Fox Lutheran has some good reasons for wanting to win this game. Besides desiring revenge for last year's two defeats, the Foxes have a 5-game winning streak going — and a 7-2 season mark.

The rivalry between the two schools is intense.

Concordia currently has a 4-1 record. The Falcons' most recent victory was over Milwaukee Wisconsin Lutheran, 61-59, a member of the Midwest Prep Conference, which CHS will join.

The Milwaukee squad also downed Lakeside Lutheran of Lake Mills, a fellow Badger Lutheran Conference school along with FVL, 72-28.

Probable starters for Concordia will be Mark Kretzmann, a hot-shot guard who has scored over 30 points in a game this year, guard Jim Noffke, forwards Neil Bockelmann and Bill Lickwig and center John Neuberger.

The Falcons do not have the height they had last year, as 6-3 Jim Seegers and 6-5 Rick Krause have graduated. Two cagers are 6-3 and another is 6-2 but Kaniess is not sure whether any of these start.

Regular Quintet
Fox Lutheran will be starting its regular quintet of Don Arps at center, Bary Wierschke and Bob Krueger at the forwards, and Lee Kiepke and Wayne Koenig at guards.

Injuries have plagued the Foxes this week. Although John Mueller, out with an injury to his foot, will suit up tonight, reserve Mark Dahlke is out with a blood clot.

Dahlke had his foot stepped on three weeks ago, and has been ordered by the doctor to stay off his feet. He has been one of the Foxes' top substitutes.

Wierschke has had a sprained ankle, but it is expected that he will be able to play with the injury taped.

The game will start at 8:15 p.m.

Frank Gifford Replaces Dial On East Squad

Buddy Sprains Knee; West Favored to Win

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Frank Gifford of the New York Giants returns to familiar ground when he plays in his seventh Pro Bowl football game Sunday at the Coliseum.

The ex-Southern California star was named to the East squad Thursday after flanker back Buddy Dial of the Dallas Cowboys suffered a badly sprained knee and had to withdraw from the game.

Gifford played in the All-Star game of the National Football League from 1954 to 1957, in 1959 and 1960. He was voted Player of the Game in 1959 when he sparked the East to a 28-21 victory.

Suffers Concussion
Gifford retired after the 1960 season when he suffered a deep concussion in a game against the Philadelphia Eagles. The 32-year-old veteran of 11 NFL seasons came back in 1962.

Said Allie Sherman, East coach, "Frank was a real clutch player for us this season and came through in the pinch in the games we had to win."

This will be Sherman's third year as coach of the East squad. Last year his All-Stars beat the West 30-20. The West leads in the series, 8-5.

The West is a six point favorite.

Rotating Coaches Plan Beginning To Show Results, Wrigley Claims

BY CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO (AP)—Once a year at least, multimillionaire P. K. Wrigley likes to step through the looking-glass and enter the Alice in Wonderland world of a Mad Hatters party.

It is a party he throws himself.

It is a jammed-packed thing on the balcony overlooking the restaurant in his Wrigley building.

It is the Chicago Cubs annual winter news jamboree.

Included were the 13 coaches of the Cubs and their farm system, seven Cub players, and the rest newsmen, radio men, TV men, and two women trying to find the powder room.

Out of Cobweb
Through the entanglement of television and high-powered light cords, a battery of tape recorders and a horde of pencil-scratching reporters, Mr. Wrigley, the gum tycoon and an esteemed National League official as Cub owner, emerged like he was clawing his way out of a cobweb.

A reporter asked: "Mr. Wrigley, as the 1964 baseball season approaches what is the main thing in your mind?"

"Washrooms in Wrigley Field," he said.

"Ladies or men?"

"Both, but mainly the ladies."

We have been constantly spending money in park improvements. But we need more modern improvement in our toilets at Wrigley Field. They need new chrome plating and new tile and better lighting. They must meet modern-day standards."

Mr. Wrigley, three years ago you surprised us by announcing a rotating coaching plan replacing a manager. Last year your bomb was announcing an athletic director for the club. What do you think now?"

Show Results
"I said it would take from three to five years for our coaching idea to jell. I think it is beginning to show results. Bob Kennedy still is regarded by me as head coach. If you fellows want to call him Manager Kennedy, it is up to you."

"As for Athletic Director Bob Whillow, he is learning operations of the league, various players, etc., rapidly."

"Mr. Wrigley, do you think all clubs should have an athletic director?"

"I don't think everybody should but he has been good for us."

"Mr. Wrigley, we understand that you never attend a game at Wrigley Field. You like to watch them on television at-

Wilson	2	2	0
Kaukauna	2	2	0

Neenah and Roosevelt chalked up their fourth straight victories in the Fox Valley Freshman League Thursday afternoon.

Roosevelt whipped Kaukauna, 46-34, and Neenah measured Madison, 73 - 43. Wilson rolled over Menasha in the only other league tilt, 71-46.

George Hoffman paced Roosevelt with 16 points and Jim Kloes added 11. Tom Vandehey led Kaukauna with 11.

Gary Losse paced Neenah with 24 points, all on field goals. Dan Kriekard was runnerup with 12. All but one of the 73 points came on field goals.

Madison, which played without two regulars who were home with the mumps, was led by Mike McCollum's 21 points.

After leading only 13-10 after a quarter, Wilson outscored Menasha 22-5 in the second period on its way to a 71-46 verdict.

Dick Jernagan paced the Raiders with 18 points while Dave Shukoski had 16 for the Bluejays. Shukoski missed his first four free throws and then made eight straight.

Viking Mat, Swim Teams To See Action

Tankers Meet LaCrosse; Grapplers Entertain Ripon

An afternoon of college wrestling and swimming will await spectators at Alexander Gym Saturday afternoon.

At 1:30 p.m., Coach Gene Davis' Lawrence College swimming team will seek a repeat of last year's 56-40 conquest of LaCrosse State College.

At 2:30 p.m., Coach Ron Roberts' varsity grapplers will try for their first win when they entertain Ripon College. Freshman wrestlers from the two schools will battle after the varsity meet.

LaCrosse, headed by a fine breaststroke and butterfly swimmer, Mike Rose, is expected to be stronger this year. One of the individual features of the afternoon will be when the Vikings' Dick Snyder of Milwaukee, defending Midwest Conference champion, meets Rose in the breaststroke event.

Davis' team will be making its first home start of the season. The Vikings will rely heavily upon co-captains Pete Betzer and Walt Isaac and Snyder and Dan Foster, conference diving champion last year.

Roberts has a young team of six sophomores, one junior and two seniors, Bill Reeves of Wisconsin Rapids and Joe Lubenow of Milwaukee.

Bleier's Bar Extends Volleyball League Lead to Two Games

Snow Finally Falls at Site of Winter Olympics in Austria

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—flakes started merrily down from the darkening clouds. The huge collective sigh from Olympic officials and an army of soldiers and volunteer workers must have seemed like an earthquake in nearby areas.

Before the snow fell, Prof. Friedl Wolfgang, head of the organizing committee, sniffed the air and said: "I believe I smell snow."

His nose knew. Prof. Wolfgang, taking no chances, has had some 2,200 soldiers trucking snow into the area for the past few days.

Sialom Runs

Three of the sialom runs were clad in an armor of ice because firemen had squirted water on the ground.

The Lizum Valley looked like a vast construction site. Two companies of the 21st Mountain Infantry Battalion, hand-picked skiers and mountaineers, have been busy moving snow from other areas to the ski runs with baskets, shovels, weasel tractors, and heavy American trucks and bulldozers.

The Olympic ski runs had been closed temporarily while the workers were busy preparing the courses.

Then the snow came and worked ceased temporarily. If nature takes over, the courses may be opened soon and the empty hotels will get a fresh flow of customers.

First place Vocational School continued to keep its slate clean and increased its lead with a 68-43 triumph over the Police Department. Elm Tree scored a 71-52 victory over IPC.

Appleton Coated had to overcome a 25-point outburst by Valley Iron's Don Bohman for a 76-63 victory. Lyle Harke hit 17 points to lead the attack as Coated tied City Hall for second place.

Jim Peerenboom led the Appleton Vocational attack with 19 points, and Phil Condu set the pace for Police with 16.

Al Harke produced 22 points of the Elm Tree attack with Jon Myers leading IPC with 18.

CITY HALL 33 — Koshke 1-2-1; J. Olin 1-0-0; Wittman 1-0-2; Boese 5-7-2; Longiro 1-1-2; Smeikal 1-1-2; 11-11-11; 9-7-8-9-32.

POST-CRESCENT 55 — T. Hurley 3-2-2; Stern 1-1-2; Kryszak 9-14; Mislinski 0-2-0; Verhagen 1-2-4; Wright 2-11-7; J. Hurley 5-0-2; 24-7-17; 9-13-12-22-55.

Grundemann Hits 588 Pin Triple

Don Sachs hit a 232 game (565 series) and Dave Grundemann slammed a 588 set in the Fraternal League at Hahn's Lanes.

AAL holds a 1½-game lead in the standings with a 44½-23½ slate.

Wally Roblee's 585 and Vern Smith's 230 and 562 were the only other honor counts.

GAME MAY NOT MOVE IF IT THINKS IT HASN'T BEEN SEEN!

HUNTERS ARE OFTEN SURPRISED BY SUDDENLY SEEING "STAGUE-LIKE" GAME STARING BACK AT THEM. THE AVERAGE HUNTER RE-ACTS BY HURRIEDLY TURNING TO SHOOT, OR PAUSES BEFORE HIS NEXT ANXIOUS MOVE—EITHER OF WHICH CAUSES THE GAME TO JUMP FOR COVER. USUALLY, THE GAME HAS SEEN THE HUNTERMAN FIRST AND MAY BE ESTIMATING HIS DANGER. A WISE HUNTER ACTS CASUAL, CONTINUING UNHURRIEDLY UNTIL READY TO SHOOT.

Illinois Duels Iowa in Big Ten Cage Battle

Four of the Co-Leaders Meet Saturday

CHICAGO (AP)—The Big Ten basketball title race should become a little clearer Saturday when four co-leaders meet each others.

With the chase only a week old, Michigan, Minnesota, Illinois, Iowa and Ohio State are on top after opening victories with 1-0 marks.

The stack-up will be reduced when Illinois is at Iowa for a regionally televised attraction and Minnesota invades Ohio State for another afternoon game.

Michigan is at Purdue, also in the afternoon. The Boilermakers after only three non-league triumphs in nine starts, nearly pulled the biggest upset of the young championship campaign last Saturday. They threw a scare into the Gophers at Minnesota before losing 98-73.

At Northwestern

In Saturday night games, Indiana (0-2) is at Michigan State (1-1) and Wisconsin (0-2) at Northwestern (1-1).

Top game appears to be Illinois' test with the Hawkeyes, who knocked off Indiana on the 23.0 and 22.0.

Why the Shuffle?

Anyone who has watched me bowl has probably noticed that I actually shuffle up to the foul line. The reason I do this is simple enough. I don't want anything to disturb the smoothness of my delivery. If I took steps, my head would bob, and my arm motion would be altered.

I have more to say about the subject of the approach in my pocket pamphlet, "Position, Stance and Approach"—yours for 10 cents and a stamped, return envelope sent to me, Don Carter, in care of this paper.

GREEN BAY — Rochester's erratic Mustangs, who find themselves looking up at the unaccustomed depths of last place, get a golden opportunity to play havoc with the United States Hockey League standing this weekend — and simultaneously vault into contention.

The Mustangs, who have never before occupied the USHL dungeon at this stage of the race, invade the Brown County Veterans Memorial Arena Saturday night to tackle Green Bay's Bobcats, now out front by 1½ games following a breathtaking series sweep over the Waterloo Black Hawks last weekend.

Rochester, which also opposes the Bobcats in a 1 p.m. match Sunday afternoon, is at the crossroads, Coach Art Strobel admits. Aware that his Broncos must at least split in order to stay within reasonable range, he declared, "We can't lose too many more or we'll be out of sight."

Check Protest
There is another pending factor that also could affect the race considerably. Commissioner Harold L. (Hal) Trumble of St. Louis Park, Minn., has announced he will attend Saturday night's Rochester - Green Bay game and, prior to it, will investigate a protest filed by Waterloo Coach Leonard (Oake) Brumm following the Black Hawks' last second 7-6 loss to the Bobcats last Sunday.

Trumble said he would check the Veterans Memorial Arena clock and check with game officials before making a ruling. If the protest is upheld, the goal will be disallowed and the two teams will be required to settle the issue in a sudden death overtime during Waterloo's next Green Bay visit Jan. 25 - 26, Trumble indicated.

Although his average has slipped, Green Bay's Gene Rebellato, still leads USHL scorers on an average basis with a 2.57 mark. Jon Rendall, pocket-sized South St. Paul forward, is next up with a 1.67 average, followed by Waterloo's Tim Taylor with 1.63.

Rosburg Leads, But 30 Must Still Finish First Round

BY BOB MYERS
SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The stock market moved irregularly early this afternoon close to the level it reached after seven straight daily advances. Trading was heavy.

Prices worked lower in the morning but even as the averages declined, several leading stocks were making new highs.

Prices firmed and began to recover some of the lost ground. Gains and losses were fairly even by mid-session.

The diplomatic trouble with Panama was causing some concern in Wall Street, but apparently not enough to prompt nervous selling. Meanwhile, news came of a gain in retail sales and a decline in unemployment for mid-December.

Selected drugs were strong and despite a generally lower trend among steels, motors and chemicals enough blue chips throughout the list advanced to keep the averages close to an even keel.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .1 at 289.5 with industrials up .3, rails up .6 and utilities up .1.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 2.26 to 774.29 but the Dow Jones average of 65 industrials, rails and utilities was down only .26 at 271.63.

IBM, which was spurred by spreading hopes of a stock split, went to another new yearly high even during the morning decline. It held a 3-point gain.

Liggett & Myers held a 1-point gain despite the scheduled report Saturday by the government committee on smoking and health. Other tobaccos were easy.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange. Trading was moderately active.

Two shots under par were Tommy Bolt, George Knudson of Canada and Peter Butler, England's Professional Golfers Association champion who is making his American debut.

Arnold Palmer, who is a pre-tournament selection in almost any event he enters, hoped to rebound from an opening 73.

First place Kimberly (6-0) plays host to third place Green Bay Reliance (4-2) in the feature weekend game of the Southern Division, Badger Amateur Basketball Association.

In the Northern Division, Menasha's Macs (5-0) will risk their lead against runner-up Bowler (4-1).

Both GOP Hopefuls Show Confidence

Rockefeller and Goldwater
See Favorable Reaction to Forays Into New Hampshire

CONCORD, N.H. (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is very pleased with his reception and Sen. Barry Goldwater says "I think we have it made."

That was the reaction of the two avowed candidates for the Republican presidential nomination after their first campaign forays into New Hampshire, site of the nation's first preferential primary, March 10.

"Things are going about the way I expected them to," said Rockefeller Thursday night during a short visit to Manchester for a nonpolitical speech. He campaigned in the state last week.

"I'm convinced there's more enthusiasm now than before I

Industry Board Cites State Job Discrimination

Opinion Is Based On Figures Showing
Negro Employment

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The State Industrial Commission chairman said Thursday "there is discrimination in employment in the state of Wisconsin."

Mathias Schimenz made the comment at a hearing where state firms, labor unions and government agencies reported their Negro employment figures.

"You must admit there is a problem," Schimenz said after figures reported by six companies showed that Negro employment was seven per cent at one firm while for two others it was about one per cent. The other firms were under one per cent.

The 16 firms appearing before the commission during the two-day hearing reported that Negroes made up 1.7 per cent of their total work forces. Of 39,728 persons employed by the firms, 667 were Negroes.

The hearings on Negro employment would continue, probably on a monthly basis, Schimenz said, because the figures do not present "a good picture."

Companies appearing that reported Negro employment made up one per cent or less of their work forces were the Journal Cross, Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co., the Electric Co., Marine National Exchange Bank and Marshall & Ilsley Bank.

Milwaukee County reported that among its 7,000 employees 12.7 per cent were Negroes.

The commission was told that 10 per cent of the federal government employees in the Milwaukee area are Negroes and 1.5 per cent of those in the Madison area are Negroes.

Schimenz said that no matter what had been done in the past, employers must make a "special effort" toward hiring Negroes.

He said those appearing at the hearings were not "suspect" and that the commission was not "on a witch hunt."

Arms Conference Seen As Major Peace Effort

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

DISARMAMENT: President Johnson views the next round of disarmament negotiations in Geneva as "one of the most important way stations in this nation's priority efforts to strengthen the peace."

"As the United States enters these negotiations in a new year we harbor no illusions of easy success," the President was quoted as saying in a White House statement issued today.

"But we do take encouragement from developments in the recent past and look to new opportunities in this nation's search for new agreement in sound and significant arms limitation and reduction measures."

The White House also confirmed that William C. Foster, director of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, will head the U.S. delegation. The talks are to begin Jan. 21, with 17 nations taking part.

Russia Needs U. S. Machinery To Bolster Arms Production

BY LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Central Intelligence Agency says the Kremlin wants to buy large amounts of Western chemical machinery on long-term credit so as not to hamper Soviet arms production.

CIA's conclusions about Russia's economic woes were issued Thursday in CIA's first general press briefing since the secret agency was set up after World War II.

Reportable Car Accident Total 126,989 for State

MADISON (AP)—The State Motor Vehicle Department said Thursday that 126,989 traffic accident reports were received last year from drivers involved in crashes causing death, injury or property damage of $100 or more.

The department said 30,691 drivers lost their licenses in 1963, an 11 per cent increase over the 27,490 recorded for 1962.

Drivers who lost their licenses in 1963 included 18,165 following convictions on serious moving violations, 5,608 who accumulated 12 or more demerit points during the year and 6,918 who were unable to arrange settlement of damages under the state's safety responsibility law.

Ex-New Orleans Mayor Bids for Governorship

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A former New Orleans mayor who speaks French when campaigning in the Cajun country and a onetime lieutenant in the fabled Long political dynasty go before Louisiana voters Saturday for the Democratic nomination for governor.

The winner will meet the Republican nominee in a general election in March. But in this Deep South state the nomination has amounted to election since Reconstruction days, and there's little reason to expect anything different this year.

The runoff candidates for the Democratic nomination: DeLesseps Morrison, 51, a four-time mayor of New Orleans making his third bid for governor. Morrison was President Kennedy's ambassador to the Organization of American States, resigning to make the race for governor. He led the field of 10 in the first primary last month.

John McKeithen, 45, a State Public Service commissioner and onetime legislative floor leader for the late Gov. Earl Long. McKeithen campaigned as an old-line ally of the faction founded by Huey Long.

Governor Approves Retraining Programs

MADISON (AP)—Gov. John W. Reynolds approved Thursday federal job retraining programs totaling $11,862 for La Crosse County and the Wausau-Taylor County area.

The La Crosse County program will train 20 unemployed persons in a 16-week course for stenographers at a cost of $9,345. The program in the Wausau-Taylor area will train 15 unemployed persons in a 90 hour course for nurses aides.

The programs will be paid from funds from the federal Area Redevelopment Act.

Knowles Begins Effort For GOP Nomination to Oppose Gov. Reynolds

Declares Support for State
Vote on Roads Bond Program

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The Republican campaign for the governorship was launched here Thursday as Candidate Warren P. Knowles declared his support of the Republican legislature's decision to refer the state highway bonding issue to an April referendum ballot.

Knowles is virtually certain to win the Republican nomination for the governorship to oppose Gov. John W. Reynolds, who will be the Democratic nominee for a new term and who intends to campaign heavily on his accelerated highway construction and bonding plan.

Knowles at a press conference here appeared anxious to clarify his position. He said he had been inaccurately described as opposing a more rapid program of main-line highway building. He said he favors highway construction acceleration, but has serious doubts about the wisdom of a heavy bonding program and reservations about the willingness of the people to support such a "debt on future generations."

Full Time Campaign
Knowles said he is prepared to spend virtually full-time campaigning for votes to restore the governorship to Republican control and explained that he had been silent during recent weeks in deference to the moratorium on political debate which followed the death of the late Mr. Kennedy.

He said that the main issues the industrial West totaled $600 million in 1962-63. Khrushchev's divided leadership in the state seven-year chemical industry expansion plan calls for a $46 billion investment over-all.

Nothing Khrushchev's call last month for Western credits, the CIA said "the current Soviet push for new foreign credits and extended repayment terms is directly related to Moscow's desire to prevent the chemical program from impinging too directly on the production of military end items."

sume to advise anyone how to vote in the April referendum on the Reynolds' plan for a $300,000,000 highway construction bonding plan, but he struck hard at Reynolds and others who have denounced the referendum as a device to secure the defeat of the highway legislation.

"It is distressing to me to see the lack of confidence the governor and some editorialists seem to have in the people of this state," he said.

Will of People
"The idea of a popular referendum on the controversial and far-reaching highway borrowing proposal strikes fear into their hearts, as if the people were not to be trusted with such decisions. Since when has it become unfashionable in Wisconsin to consider the popularly expressed will of the people?" he went on.

But Knowles carefully added that he is friendly to the idea of more highway building on a cash payment basis in conformity with the state's traditional practice, adding if the need for such legislation is shown it can be enacted when the legislature reconvenes in April.

(The legislature set an April 13 date for reconvening in order to have at hand the results of the highway bond issue balloting that will be recorded the previous week.)

Way Opened to Use Abandoned Bong Air Base

MADISON (AP)—A bill which will enable the Surplus Property Development Commission to carry out plans for use of the abandoned Bong Air Force Base in southeastern Wisconsin was signed into law Thursday by Gov. John W. Reynolds.

The bill permits the Conservation Department to sell land to the commission when that body decides to put its land use plan into effect.

The department previously secured 1,491 acres of the original 5,549 acre base from the federal government for temporary conservation use. The tract is to be transferred to other state development commission to purchase the land when it is needed.

The Conservation Department also has secured another 1,981 acres of the base for a wildlife refuge. It also seeks another 565 acres, but has no funds for purchase.

Another bill signed by the governor permits county soil and water conservation districts to condemn land for recreational use. Also signed was a bill repealing the prohibition against harpers posting signs advertising prices outside their shops.

Cherney Quits As 8th District GOP Leader

Cites Press of Work in His Law Practice as Reason

Post-Crescent News Service
GREEN BAY—Colburn Cherney, Eighth District Republican chairman since 1961, announced today he was resigning his post because of the press of work from his law practice.

"During recent months, I have undertaken additional responsibilities in connection with my law practice which makes it impossible for me to properly carry out my duties as the chairman of the Eighth Wisconsin congressional district.

"For this reason and, with a great deal of reluctance, I hereby tender my resignation as such chairman, effective Jan. 15," Cherney said in a letter to Talbot Peterson, state GOP chairman.

Organizational Politics
Cherney started work on organizational politics in 1952 in a group backing Dwight Eisenhower for the presidential nomination. In 1953 he was elected Brown County party chairman and held the post until 1961 when he was elected district chairman.

During his terms as county chairman Cherney won election as head of the organization of county chairmen. In this post, he was a member of the state Republican executive committee, a position which continued as district chairman.

In 1960, he resigned the post of head of county chairmen to take a leadership position in the pre-convention drive of Philip Kuehn, candidate for governor. He helped direct both Kuehn's 1960 and 1962 campaigns.

Cherney was a delegate to the 1960 national Republican convention.

Cherney's present term as district chairman runs until the district caucus of May, 1965. The state executive committee will make an appointment of a chairman to serve until that election.

New Barn Rises Above Blackened Ruins

Helpful Friends and neighbors pitched in at a "barn raising" this week at the Bud Rathsack farm, route 1, Appleton. When it is completed, the modern, new barn near Greenville will rank as one of the finest in the area. The basic structure will be 160 by 38 feet. It will be capable of housing 72 head of dairy cattle. A 70 by 38-foot wing is being planned. The wing will be used for young stock. The new barn will replace one destroyed by fire Oct. 19. Volunteer labor played a big role in its construction. Neighbors helped throughout the project and turned out in force when the arches were set in place and covered. The Rathsacks farm is 160 acres. ## Paul Hameister Proves Small Farm Can be Successful

Outagamie JC Top Farmer Runs 70-Acre Spread Near Appleton

BY DON KAMPFER
Post-Crescent Farm Editor

Paul Hameister was a very surprised young man when it was announced he had been selected Outagamie County's Outstanding Young Farmer of 1964.

He was one of three finalists who, along with their wives, were guests of the Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Appleton Appliance Co. at a testimonial banquet Tuesday at the Appleton Elks Club. He didn't really believe he stood a chance. The other finalists, one of whom was first runnerup for two successive years, had bigger farms, bigger dairy herds and more diversified farming operations.

What Hameister didn't count on was the judges' ability to evaluate progress and achievement.

Started on Shoestring

The outstanding young farmer started out on a shoestring nine years ago, in 1954, with a marginal farm and a marginal dairy herd on a 70-acre plot just a stone's throw west of Appleton's burgeoning residential suburbia.

The farm is still a 70-acre plot but it has evolved into a successful dairying operation. Hameister readily admits he isn't out of the financial woods but things are looking up. The foundation for a new farm home has been poured and masons will begin work any day on a much needed addition to the barn.

More Barn Space

More barn space is badly needed: Hameister now has to milk his ever-growing herd in shifts. He started out with 22 Holsteins that averaged about 318 pounds of butterfat a year. His newest Dairy Herd Improvement Owner-Sampler test results show the 32 Holsteins he

Plans Set for Conservation Speech Test

Outagamie District Event Will be at Black Creek School

BLACK CREEK —The annual Outagamie County Soil Conservation District speaking contest has been set for 7 p.m. Jan. 23 at the grade school here.

Speakers will be divided into four classifications. One group will be made up of grade school youngsters. The second will be for those in high school or grades nine-12. College students will compete in another classification and the adult group will include persons 18 or older as of Jan. 1 and not attending college.

Winners in each of the four groups will be eligible to enter the area contest at Green Bay in early February.

Those interested in entering the competition are asked to contact Cortney Schwartz, Outagamie County 4-H Club agent. Entry blanks are available at the extension office.

Speeches should deal with soil or water conservation, Schwartz said.

4-H Community Builder Award Night Planned

MANAWA —Waupaca County 4-H community builders achievement night will be held at 8 p.m. Monday at Manawa High School cafeteria.

A potluck dinner will be served.

Calumet Sheep To be Inspected

CHILTON—Sheep in Calumet County will be inspected for scabies this year, according to Orrin Meyer, county agent.

Scab, as the disease is commonly called, is caused by a small mite which burrows into the animal's skin. As a result of the disease the wool falls out and the sheep become subject to other diseases and parasites.

Other counties to be inspected are Buffalo, Clark, Crawford, Door, Dunn, Green Lake, Iowa, Iron, Jackson, Jefferson, Kenosha, Lincoln, Menomonie, Milwaukee, Pepin, Polk, Price, Rock, St. Croix, Sauk, Shawano, Vernon, Vilas, Washburn and Wood.

In charge of the program in the local district is Dr. C. R. Horsens, Two Rivers.

During his terms as county chairman Cherney won election as head of the organization of county chairmen. In this post, he was a member of the state Republican executive committee, a position which continued as district chairman.

In 1960, he resigned the post of head of county chairmen to take a leadership position in the pre-convention drive of Philip Kuehn, candidate for governor. He helped direct both Kuehn's 1960 and 1962 campaigns.

Cherney was a delegate to the 1960 national Republican convention. Cherney's present term as district chairman runs until the district caucus of May, 1965. The state executive committee will make an appointment of a chairman to serve until that election.

Railroads Plan 'Grain Trains'

New Rail Concept Of Wheat Movement Offers Low Rates

The Soo Line, the Pennsylvania Railroad, and a grain milling firm are gearing up to begin the regular movement of solid trains of Upper Midwest wheat to Buffalo, N.Y., in the first application of a new concept of rail transportation of grain.

The first of perhaps 18 or 20 unit trains of wheat, each consisting of 95 cars, left Duluth Wednesday if the rate and service proposal now before the Interstate Commerce Commission is permitted to become effective on that date.

The unit wheat-trains will move out of Duluth - Superior every five days until the lake navigation season opens. The trains will go directly to Buffalo without intermediate switching, except for the direct transfer between the Soo and the Pennsylvania at Chicago, and without the cars being weighed or opened for inspection of the grain en route.

Tariff Provisions
Provisions in the tariff covering the movement are designed to assure rapid loading and unloading of the unit trains so that turnaround time on the two sets of equipment planned will be kept to a minimum and equipment utilization will be as high as possible. The proposal also covers unit train movements from Minneapolis - St. Paul to Buffalo.

Application of the unit train concept—heretofore seen in the U. S. in the movement of coal and ores—will introduce two new and important factors into grain marketing procedures, Ross L. Thorfinnson, the Soo's vice president of traffic, said. The more attractive economics of unit trains will permit the Soo and the Pennsylvania to move the grain at a cost more nearly competitive with that of lake carriers, considering the seasonal nature of lake shipping.

Second, the trains will give grain millers greater flexibility in buying and transporting grain.

Don't Buy Any Spreader Till You See the JOHN DEERE "33" DAIRY SPREADER

The low profile, the big capacity, and the clean design of the John Deere 33 Dairy Spreader is just what you have been looking for . . . and its low cost will please you.

With 20-inch wheels, the 33 spreader is only 47 inches high . . . extra low for use with a barn cleaner. The 52 inch width makes it easier and faster to fill the 33 Spreader with an overhead track manure conveyor. You save time anyway you handle manure.

The 33 Spreader has a combination beater-wide-spread with aggressive diamond-shaped teeth welded to the outer edge of right and left turning spirals. These teeth pull the manure inward and upward so there's no building up or packing in wet or freezing weather.

This 139 bushel spreader is completely PTO powered. It can be unloaded standing still if you prefer to stack your manure instead of spreading during the winter.

Top Farmer Has Small Farm, Big Operation

milks today average 426 pounds of butterfat.

In addition, the Hameister herd includes four bred heifers, eight yearling heifers and four calves. There is also a steer, but it will never see the livestock market. The beef animal will wind up in the family freezer as neatly packaged steaks, roasts and hamburger.

Of major concern to the Hameisters now are the building construction projects. The young family is outgrowing the one-story bungalow. The Hameisters were married in 1956. They have three children, Brenda, 6; Paula, 3, and David, seven months.

Transfer System

In the barn, stanchions line both walls, but there are not enough to go around for all the milk cows. Hameister has to milk five or six, turn them loose and bring in the unmilked animals the stanchion facilities are unable to accommodate, this prolongs the milking operation.

milker units with a transfer raise feed for his dairy herd, system to get the milk from the dairy barn to the bulk cooler in the milkhouse. A pipeline milker may be installed some day.

Buys Some Feed

With limited acreage, Hameister had to decide on a farming formula. He picked dairying and has concentrated on it. His decision was based on the stability of the dairy market in contrast with the speculative aspects of cash crops, beef and hog prices.

Every one of his 70 acres is being utilized to the fullest to of its—until last year — comparatively low price. At one time he planted almost equal acreage of hay, corn and oats, but he has changed his pattern.

His farmland produces, in his estimation, a "pretty good" corn crop so he is leaning a little more toward it. Last year he tried some green oats silage and the venture turned out well. He will put up more next year.

Hameister doesn't pasture an acre. His two silos are filled twice a year.

Night School

Hameister does his best to keep up with the latest farming methods. He admits he once thought he could do an adequate job of staying abreast by reading the agricultural periodicals, but it wasn't enough. He is now a regular night student in vocational school agricultural course. "It's amazing how many new things come into their own each year," Hameister said.

His instructor, Leonard Werner, has become a prime booster and confidant. "When things pile up and get you so discouraged you want to quit, Werner and the fellows down at PCA (Production Credit Association) get me back on the right track," Hameister said.

Last summer when he had two narrow escapes from deadly silage gas was one of those times. Tuesday night there were no thoughts of quitting for the personable young man.

Weed Control May be Safe For Evergreens

UW Tests Show 8 Chemicals Failed To Damage Trees

Several weed killer chemicals are promising for use in ornamental evergreen plantings, at least from the standpoint of safety to the evergreens.

Melvin Wentland and LeRoy G. Holm, University of Wisconsin horticulturists, tested eight chemical weed control materials and combinations last year in plantings of one-year-old transplants of Austrian pine, Norway spruce, Douglas fir, American arborvitae, Scotch pine, and Blue spruce.

Due to a previous treatment for weed control on the plots, they did not obtain information on how good the materials are for controlling the various weeds. But their work does provide some idea of how tolerant the trees are to the various chemicals.

They found severe injury only with a few treatments on arborvitae. Most tolerant plants were Douglas fir, Blue spruce, and Austrian pine. Linuron and atrazine gave the least injury. Amizine or a mixture of amitrol and atrazine gave the most severe injury. Injury usually Plans for Two Farm Institutes in Outagamie County were launched at a meeting in Appleton. showed up as burned, bleached or yellowed tips.

The rates of chemicals tested were atrazine at three pounds per acre; atrazine and linuron combined, each at one pound per acre; atrazine at two pounds per acre with dalapon at five pounds per acre; atrazine at two pounds per acre with amitrol at four pounds per acre; atrazine at two pounds with amiben at five pounds; amazine at five pounds per acre; and linuron at two and four pounds per acre.

The researchers applied the sprays at three different dates—in May when the buds were breaking, in July during the active growth phase, and in August after growth had stopped. There was little difference in tree injury due to time of application.

Wentland and Holm point out that such observations need to be made over several years before they can be used confidently. In addition, the weed control effectiveness of the materials still needs to be tested.

Egg Production Hits New Low

National Trend For November Is Up One Per Cent

Egg production on Wisconsin farms in November was the smallest on record for the month since 1946, according to the State Department of Agriculture. Farm flocks in the nation produced a record number of eggs in November.

Wisconsin farm flocks produced 144 million eggs in November and more than 1½ billion eggs in the first 11 months of 1963. Egg production November was six per cent below a year ago. Total egg production so far this year is eight per cent less than for the January through November period last year.

Layers in Wisconsin farm flocks have been working hard to keep up egg production. During November, production per 100 layers averaged 1.752 eggs—one per cent more than a year ago and the highest rate on record for the month. The number of layers in November was seven per cent below last year and more than offset the increased production per layer. Layers in farm flocks totaled nearly 8¼ million birds. This number is the lowest for any November since records began in 1925.

Egg production on farms in the nation was 1 per cent greater than a year ago and a new high for November. Mild temperatures contributed to a record rate of production per layer which more than offset the reduction in the number of layers. Total production of nearly 58 billion eggs was slightly more than the January through November total last year. More than 5 billion eggs of the total were produced in November.

Dairy Barn Ventilation Vital During Winter

BY JOE L. WALKER
Waupaca County Agent

The dairy barn is pretty well closed up these cold winter days and ventilation becomes an important factor.

Milk is a product often judged by its flavor and, according to Professor Myron Dean of the Dairy Industry Department of the University of Wisconsin, Joe L. Walker there are four common causes for off-flavored milk in the winter months. These are the oxidized flavor, feed flavor, barn or unclean flavor and salty flavor. The feed flavor can be traced to silage feeding just before milking; the barn or unclean flavor is the result of poor ventilation, and salty flavor is usually found to be connected with mastitis cows or cows in the very late lactation.

Experiments conducted by the UW prove that a well ventilated barn will not only take care of barn odors in milk but will increase milk production by five percent per cow over a non-ventilated structure. The fan draws off the warm moisture laden air and keeps the barn cooler, free of foul odors and improves the appetite of the cow.

The barn fan should be located near the calf or maternity pen to allow the warm air to be drawn out over these pens and thus reduce the draft in the area. The fan should be capable of removing about 100 cubic feet of air per minute for each 1,000 pounds of livestock housed.

For best results, the barn temperature should be kept around 40-45 degrees. Granted, this isn't a shirt sleeve situation but it is best for keeping the barn free of foul odors and moisture laden air. Aside from ventilation increased production, ventilation adds to the life of the barn.

Winter Pruning
Winter pruning of shrubs won't damage them, according to Professor George Ziegler, of the University of Wisconsin Horticulture Department. Trees can be pruned and, if pruned, should be cut close to the trunk. Shrubs can stand more severe pruning when they are dormant than they can during the growing season. Ziegler says you can remove one-fourth to one-third of the old wood in a lilac bush during the winter without damaging the bush. In early summer the lilac would be set back several years. Pruning can be done anytime now.

State Potato Grower Loses PACA License

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has announced that Gene Iris Farms, Inc., Antigo, has failed to pay a reparation award issued under the perishable Agricultural Commodities (PACA) Act and as a result the firm's PACA license was suspended.

USDA received a complaint from Spafford Brothers, Inc., Rhinelander, that Gene Iris Farms, Inc. had failed to pay $9,644 for potatoes received in interstate commerce. The Antigo Farm did not answer the charges and USDA ordered payment of the full amount claimed due, plus interest, through default proceedings.

Agriculture Needs More Researchers

Claim Is Based On Anticipated Population Hike

BY OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — More agricultural research rather than less is seen as a necessity by the Agriculture Department's research service at a time when farm surpluses—the outgrowth of research—plague farmers and the government.

An editorial in the service's research magazine said this need is based on (1) prospects that there will be 18 to 20 million more Americans by 1968 and (2) pressure for further reductions in cost of producing food as a means of raising farm income.

The service said the five-year outlook projects net income of farm operators in 1968 at a level 9 per cent below 1962.

"This is one of several dilemmas facing producers and their supporting agricultural research agencies—both public and private," the agency said.

Further research, it said, could show farmers how to produce various crops and livestock products at low enough costs to assure fair returns to producers and reasonable prices to consumers.

Need Better Methods

"We urgently need better methods of conserving soils and using available water supplies. . . milk with more non-fat solids. . . eggs that retain their initial high quality. . . fruits and vegetables that are more suitable

Feed and Seed Dealers from Waupaca and Outagamie counties met at New London Tuesday night. University of Wisconsin soil department professor, Leo Walsh, left, was the keynote speaker. The program was sponsored by the county extension services. for freezing and canning. . . and field crops with qualities especially useful to industry.

"We need more economical and effective methods of controlling diseases, insects, weeds, and weather. . . and better fertilizer practices and machines and other production tools. And, we must integrate these improvements into economical farm operations that stay flexible enough to allow adjustments in response to changes in market demands," the service added.

The agency said the future will bring rising demands for meat, milk, eggs, fruits and vegetables. But these are the foods that are costly to produce. Research can help show farmers how to make further reductions in these costs.

Lakeshore 4-H at Stockbridge Divided Into Three Clubs

STOCKBRIDGE—Division of the Lakeshore 4-H Club into three groups was accomplished Monday at a meeting attended by Charles P. Nikolai, Calumet County 4-H agent and 4-H leaders, at the home of Mrs. Dorothy Behnke.

The club was split according to geographic location; Stockbridge village, headed by Mrs.

John Karls; southern part of the village and southern rural with Mrs. Paul Westenberger and Mrs. Paul Ecker in charge, and the northern rural area under the leadership of Mrs. Behnke.

Naming the clubs has not been decided, but one is expected to remain the Lakeshore.

The Lakeshore Club, which was reactivated last spring had a membership of 53. Because of crowded conditions at meetings and the difficulty leaders had in carrying out the program, Nikolai and the leaders felt dividing the club into small groups would be advantageous.

The regular monthly meeting has been postponed until 8 p.m. Jan. 15 when the final meeting will be held at village hall. Future meetings of the clubs will be held in the homes if it is possible to accommodate members, otherwise at the town hall.

Surplus Food Distribution Down in State

Approximately 69,600 needy persons in the state received surplus foods donated by the U. S. Department of Agriculture during October.

The number of recipients represented 87 per cent of the 80,000 certified by state and county welfare agencies as eligible to receive food.

Dennis M. Doyle, Midwest director of the Agricultural Marketing Service's food distribution division, reports the number of participants and eligibles have continued to decline throughout 11 Midwest states. Persons received foods dropped from a total of 950,000 in September to 946,000 in October, while the number of eligibles was 1,141,000 against 1,123,000.

Flour was the leading commodity distributed, followed by rice, dry milk, beans, rolled wheat, lard/shortening, chopped meat, cheese, corn meal, peanut butter and butter.

Menominees Now Eligible For State Aid

Loans, Grants to Be Given Through Welfare Department

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON—Loans and grants under a special act of the state legislature now are available to residents of Menominee County who hold bonds of Menominee Enterprises, Inc., the State Department of Public Welfare announced Thursday.

The announcement came from Director Wilbur Schmidt following action by the State Board of Public Welfare under the emergency option of the statutes available to it.

Later the board will hold a formal public hearing on regulations under which it will operate the special $1,000,000 assistance program authorized by the legislature in November.

Two Phases
The program will be in two phases:

1. Emergency grants to Indians who need help for subsistence purposes. In such cases, the grants will be liens upon the bonds of the corporation held by the Indian.

2. Direct loans, on a three-year basis and at interest of four per cent, with the bonds pledged as security, and with a limit of the par value of the securities. Such loans may be made for more substantial purchases or investments, including home repairs and similar needs, officials explained.

Assist Indians
The department said that it has already sent two of its representatives to Menominee County to assist needy Indians in completing and filing their applications.

Uranyl Slash Costs Many Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration calculates that its cutback in production of nuclear weapon raw material will save about $50 million in the next fiscal year, more later — and eventually end several thousand jobs.

The cutback was announced Wednesday by President Johnson in his State of the Union message and explained to newsmen later by Chairman Glenn T. Seaborg of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Other highly placed officials discussed the strategic and political implications of the announced 25 per cent reduction in the output of enriched uranium and the closing of four plutonium plants. They said stocks of U.S. nuclear weapons had increased 50 per cent in the past three years, making the uranium cutback possible.

Financial Aspects of Running Church Listed

BEAR CREEK—The business aspects of running a church were outlined by the Rev. Carl Ehrfurth to Walther League members of Trinity Lutheran Church Monday night.

The league is purchasing Lenten devotion booklets for each family of Grace and Trinity churches.

A tobogganing party is planned Jan. 19 at Hortonville.

A social meeting is planned Jan. 20 at Trinity hall.

Members elsewhere the most effective means of making contact with the State Department is through the county welfare office, it was said.

The bonds in the corporation which were issued to the Indians as owners of the reservation upon the termination of federal government control were not negotiable until Jan. 1. The legislature acted to set up the special credit program to reduce the chance of exploitation of securities holders.

Poor Charlie! Missed Again for Best Dressed Men of Year List

BY CHARLES HOUSE

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

I now perceive that the fashion folk have run wild again and have scrawled out in their crabbed little handwriting their annual list of "Best Dressed Men" to say nothing of women, which I won't.

House

are not proper tests. As I see it, the question should be: does he have nice clothes?

As to that, I have this moment returned from my clothes closet which, to be truthful, is only part mine and part Madame's.

An inventory revealed that I am the possessor of a respectable number and an array of sports shirts.

There are four khaki shirts, one brown shirt with small checks, subdued hues, one blue nylon, one grey corduroy, one grey wool and one tan.

It may be suggested that the colors are quite ordinary because I do not have the courage to purchase brightly-hued ones which I like. So much is true but modesty is adequate cause for acclaim: is it not? It may also be said that three of these sport shirts are too tattered for wear in polite company. Two others have been unwearable except for romping with the kids because when I paint a garage I do not put the paint solely upon it.

I have a goodly number of neckties. A modest guess would place the number at something like 75 of them. It is unfortunately true that I can wear only three or four of them, for various reasons. One reason is that my sister, who is not very good at picking out neckties, frequently does so. Another reason is that quite

Once again I was not on the list. I have noticed of course that such lists as these craven people invent always seem to name people who are both notable and beautiful like, for example, Cary Grant. It does not seem entirely fair and, at the risk of being charged with squeezing sour grapes, I protest.

I concede with reluctance that there is a possibility that I am neither as beautiful as probably anyone, nor as notable as my neighbor's dog, but my thesis is that fame and beauty are not proper tests. As I see it, the question should be: does he have nice clothes?

Excuses, Excuses

Then I have a few others which no longer match happily with clothes I now own, such as they are.

But the three neckties which I know I can wear are very pretty. I would put them up against Cary Grant's any old time he wants to try it.

I am not very strong on shoes. That is, except from a modish point of view I have a couple of pairs of Indian moccasins, two pairs of Eskimo mukluks made of hair seal and seal intestines. But, alas, they smell a little bit.

Boot, Shoe Supply

Then I have some rubber shoe pacs, some hiking boots which I have carried me more than a thousand miles, a pair of black shoes which my son steals and never polishes, and then I have what I call my "regular" shoes which means that I am not necessarily ashamed of them.

I have a sufficient number of slacks including some, I think, that I wore when I was a Boy Scout. It is regrettable that most of my trousers shrink somewhat in the waist line and are, therefore, no longer trustworthy.

One or two of the others are too badly speckled with wood stain and may not be worn except perhaps when my mother-in-law comes to visit or else if I plan to wrestle with somebody.

Nevertheless, I have my "regular" trousers and they seem to fit pretty good.

Man of Many Hats

Now in the hat department I am fairly well off. I have a pith helmet given to me by the Jaycees of Kewaunee. And I have a Basque beret which I have not the courage to wear. I also have an Army fatigue hat which is okay for looks but not suitable for wear on formal occasions.

I have a woolen stocking hat from Norway which is gaudy and warm. I have a Scottish tam but it is not very good except on St. Andrews Day.

I also have a corduroy cap which is buff-colored and a green golfing cap. I have a tire-man's helmet and a foul weather hat and a hunting cap and a sailor's hat and a soldier's hat, and a cap I bought on the U.S.S. Lake Champlain and then I have a very good fishing hat but it has been somewhat bent and hardly anybody likes it except me.

I also have a Bavarian hat

Approval Seen for Cultural Center in Memory of Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—A single word is now the only hurdle for sponsors of a bill to build a national cultural center in memory of John F. Kennedy.

That word appears in the bill passed by the House Wednesday night over Republican opposition. The word is "sole."

The House bill authorizes $31 million for the project and designates the center as the sole national memorial to Kennedy in the Washington area. The Senate, when it passed the bill, omitted the word "sole" because it did not want to bind the hands of future Congresses.

The Senate now must decide whether to accept the House version of the bill or to meet in conference committee with House members to iron out a compromise.

No trouble is expected, and, once the bill clears Congress, the signature of President Johnson is assured.

decorated with insignia of various cities and countries it has visited. It is a nice hat except that when I wear it people throw stones at me.

Unhappily I do not happen to own a "regular" hat because I lost it, but I will match hats with almost anybody except Lily Dache or whatever her name is; and that goes for Cary Grant, too.

UW Enrollment Up 10 Per Cent Over Year Ago

MADISON (AP) — The University of Wisconsin second semester enrollment on all campuses, will be up nearly 10 per cent compared to a year ago, a university official reported.

Prof. L. Joseph Lins, coordinator of institutional studies, estimated the total at 35,073 last year the figure was 31,943.

Lins said

He said the total estimated

Second semester classes on all reflected a normal drop of about 6 per cent from the fall semester. Part of the decrease was attributed to students receiving degrees at the end of the first semester—about 1,000 at Madison and 265 at University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee. Lins estimated the Madison campus registration at 23,050. UW-M will have 6,795 fulltime undergraduate day students in addition to those in evening classes. About 2,600 students will register at the university's eight centers throughout the state.

Social Security Credit Lost by Some Farmers

Failure to Report Annual Earnings Leads to Setback

Many farmers lose valuable social security credit, according to Frank M. Donnick, district manager for social security in Appleton.

Donnick said these are farmers who do not file income tax and self-employment reports on their farm earnings.

He pointed out that federal law requires farmers who clear at least $400 a year to file tax returns and pay social security taxes. Farmers who do not clear $400, but whose total farm sales are at least $600, may report this income and pay social security tax on it under special provisions for farmers only, and thus earn credit for low or no profit years.

In order to make correct reports, farmers should keep accurate records of their income and expenses. Reports for 1963 must not be filed not later than Feb. 15, 1964, to avoid penalty.

Donnick explained that all social security benefits are based on earnings credited to the worker's social security record. If the self-employed farmer does not report his earnings, there is no way the social security administration can pay benefits when he reaches retirement age, becomes disabled, or dies. Aside from this, farmers who fail to report may also be breaking the law.

Both social security and internal revenue offices have booklets that tell more about social security coverage for farmers. The social security office in Appleton is in the Courthouse Annex.

Weed Seeds Found to Inhibit Crop Growth

Seeds of common weeds contain substances which keep crop seeds from germinating well, according to research by University of Wisconsin horticulturists.

Jonathan Gressel and LeRoy Holm have done research with 13 weeds and eight crop species and found all the weed seeds tested contained materials which could inhibit germination of at least some of the crop seeds.

Some weeds inhibited germination only of one crop, and some varieties of a crop were not affected by weed substances which inhibited other varieties of the same crop.

The horticulturists selected velvet leaf seeds for a detailed study of their effect on tomato seed germination. Also tested were seeds of redroot pigweed, ragweed, yellow rocket, mustard, lambsquarter, Jimson weed, crabgrass, barnyard grass, love grass, smartweed, purslane and foxtail. Crop seeds tested were alfalfa, cabbage, carrots, lettuce, pepper, radish and tomato.

First Step

First step in the research was to grind up the weed seeds and soak them in water to obtain an extract. Then this liquid was added to the crop seeds to be tested. The time it took the crop seeds to germinate indicated the degree of inhibition. Velvet leaf and yellow rocket inhibited germination of more crop species than the other weeds did. Alfalfa and peppers seemed the most sensitive of the crops tested.

The test with water extracts of the ground seeds indicated whether inhibiting materials were present, but another technique was required to show whether the materials could get out of the intact weed seeds to inhibit germination of nearby crop seeds.

Intact Weeds

Tests with intact weed seeds placed near crop seeds showed that the inhibitory materials of some weeds can come out of the intact seed and thus remain in the soil to delay germination. Even the leaves of velvet leaf contained a lot of the inhibiting material, the researchers found. This means trash plowed under could contribute more inhibitory substance to the soil.

Gressel found velvet leaf caused more than a 60 per cent reduction in tomato stand. This was with fewer weed seeds per square foot than has been reported common for fields infested with velvet leaf.

Holm and Gressel point out that their field test results still require verification in other types of experiments.

Velvet Leaf

In a series of tests with velvet leaf seeds, the researchers got a lead on the identity of the inhibiting substance. All the data indicate that amino acids in the seed may be responsible for the inhibiting effect. The tests showed that these amino acids are located in the embryo and endosperm of the seed, with very little in the seed coat.

Gressel and Holm indicate that their work is just beginning, and that many of their findings need to be verified and extended. But all indications are that germination inhibition by weed substances may be economically important, and well worth further study.

Outagamie ASCS Expenditures Drop

$1,104,861 Administered in 1963, Annual Report Shows

Federal expenditures in Outagamie County under the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) programs slipped moderately during 1963, a report prepared by Joseph Tickert, county ASCS manager, indicates.

Outagamie farmers benefited by $1,104,861 as a result of ASCS administration last year. This is $34,421 less than the $1,139,282 expenditure made in 1962, the program's peak year. Locally, the ASCS program made its biggest gains in 1962 climbing some $300,000 over its $810,799 disbursements in 1961.

The feed grain program has traditionally been the most popular among farmers. Last year $833,086 was distributed as a result of 38,276 acre participation on 1,269 farms. Last year $865,970 was doled out for the 19,094 acres on 1,104 farms under the feed grain program. Changes in the support payment structure accounts for the increased acreage under the program in 1963 while the payment total is down.

Ranks Second

Ranking second in participation and costs in 1963 was the conservation reserve. A total of $189,738 was disbursed under this phase of the ASCS program for 11,800 acres on 161 farms. This, too, is down from 1962 when $193,914 was paid out for 12,000 acres on 167 county farms.

Other ASCS program disbursements in 1963 and the volume of participation includes:

Wheat stabilization, 34 farms, 129 acres, $3,862; wool, 35 farms, $1,524; land use adjustment, six farms, 72 acres, $722; barley, 7 farms, 32 acres, $475, and total ACP payments, $75,087.

The same classifications for 1962 show:

Unshorn lambs, 19 farms, $383; wool, 35 farms, $3,607; wheat stabilization, 42 farms, 192 acres, $7,599; barley, four farms, 37 acres, $771, and total ACP payments, $67,038.

Rural Electricity Consumption Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department reported today that consumption of electricity on the nation's farms continued to increase in 1963.

Farms used an average of 687 kilowatt-hours of electricity in June, an increase of 3 per cent over the average a year earlier.

The monthly bill paid by farmers for electricity used for all purpose averaged $15.60 in June compared with $15 a year earlier.

The department said prices paid for electricity increased last year for the third consecutive year. Last June the average rate was 2.27 cents per kilowatt hour, up one cent from a year earlier.

Johnson Plan For Tax Slash Wins Support

President Proposes
One-Step Reduction
In Withholding Rate

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's plea for enactment of a one-step reduction in the income tax withholding rate appears likely to win congressional approval.

Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., a senior member of the Finance Committee now considering the $11 billion tax cut bill, told a reporter he thought the request would easily command the needed votes.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee, who will head his branch's conferees on the measure, indicated in a separate interview that he was willing to support it.

Lower Withholding
As the bill passed the House and now stands in Finance, it provides for a cut in the present 18 per cent withholding rate to 15 per cent this year, with a new permanent level of 14 per cent to start in 1965.

Johnson wants a one-step drop to 14 per cent.

If Johnson's argument carries, a married man with wages of $120 a week who claims exemptions for himself, his wife and two children would get take-home pay increase of $2.80 a week. While $12.80 is now withheld for income tax, the figure would be reduced to $10 under a 14 per cent withholding rate.

Really Moving
The Senate committee continues its work on the bill today, with administration supporters hoping the fast pace of the last two days can be maintained.

Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., said Thursday: "I think we're really moving now — we've covered more than 60 pages" of the 310-page bill.

Johnson told a citizens committee plugging for the tax bill Thursday that he wants the measure passed by the Senate before that body gets tangled up in a filibuster over civil rights.

Every hour of delay on the tax measure "can keep many jobs away from many people for many weeks," the President declared.

$40,000 Fire at Downer College

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A $40,000 fire at a Milwaukee Downer College dormitory Thursday left 52 Peace Corps trainees without housing but no one was injured. The trainees were taking an examination in another building when the blaze started in the basement and spread upward through the walls of the three-story brick building. Cause of the fire was not determined.

The trainees, who are scheduled to leave for Peru March 19, will be housed elsewhere.

The dormitory is rented by the adjacent University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee for use of the Peace Corps.

Report Expected to Assert Cigarettes Are Health Threat

Committee's Findings Will Cover All Effects of Smoking

BY W. JOYNES MACFARLAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government report on smoking and health to be made public Saturday is expected to point an accusing finger at cigarettes as a health hazard.

Unlike a 1959 report which dealt only with smoking and lung cancer, the new report prepared by a special committee of 10 nongovernment scientists will deal with all the effects of "smoking on human health—on the lungs, heart, and circulatory system.

The conclusions will be based on scientific findings which in the main have been publicized previously.

News Conference Planned
Surgeon General Luther L. Terry will hold a news conference to state the Public Health Service's position on the report, in the works 14 months.

Terry, who appointed the committee members, also is expected to outline plans for a second phase of the study — to

How ever, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., assistant Senate majority leader, and Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., were inclined to place the major share of blame on American students, for violating an agreement under which the Panamanian flag was to fly wherever the U.S. flag was flown in the Canal Zone.

Oswald's Kin Don't Agree On His Guilt

BY BLAIR JUSTICE

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The question of whether Mrs. Lee Harvey Oswald believes her husband killed President John F. Kennedy revived raw feelings that split the Oswald family four days after the assassination.

After Oswald was fatally wounded by Jack Ruby Nov. 24, Secret Service agents took the accused assassin's widow, mother and brother to a motel in suburban Arlington.

There a heretofore-undisclosed drama was played out, involving the family, Secret Service agents and a few of Oswald's friends.

Mother Disagrees
The mother and daughter-in-law parted in separate directions. This week, their differences were bared again.

Marina, the pretty Russian-born widow, said she was convinced of her husband's guilt. Oswald's mother said Marina must be confused.

Faces Trial in Husband's Death

MANITOWOC (AP) — Mrs. Margaret Kanzelberger, 63, was bound over for trial Thursday after four witnesses testified she admitted striking her husband with a wooden club on the night that he was found fatally beaten.

Mrs. Kanzelberger is accused of murder in the death of her 61-year-old husband, George, who was found in their Two Rivers home Nov. 19. She appeared in the lower branch of County Court for a preliminary hearing.

Judge Harold Mueller bound her over for trial. Mrs. Kanzelberger was quoted as saying her husband frequently beat her, "but this time I hit him first."

Cuban Sugar Crop Smallest in Years

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Cuba, once the world's greatest sugar bowl, this year will harvest her smallest crop in 21 years, exiled planters estimated today.

The harvest, just begun, was estimated at 3 million metric tons on the basis of a survey by the Sugar Planters Association now applied to piling up more of Cuba in exile. A metric ton is 2,200 pounds.

The estimate compares with 3.8 million tons produced in 1963 and a 6 million ton average during the years before military power — and thus age during the years before knocking him out of a war — Prime Minister Fidel Castro's Communist-dominated government attained power.

Man Dies After Being Hit by Elevator Gate

Michael J. Lutz
Killed in Accident
At Valley Iron

Michael J. Lutz, 50, 617 Ridge Lane, a journeyman molder at Valley Iron Works, died of crushing head injuries he received when a metal freight elevator gate struck him in the head shortly after 9 a.m. today.

Lutz, who had been alone on the elevator when the accident occurred, was dead on arrival at St. Elizabeth Hospital. The man had been employed at Valley Iron Works since August, 1962.

Company officials said Lutz apparently had entered the freight elevator on the second floor of the foundry area building shortly before his 9 a.m. lunch break. The man apparently was going to the first floor to eat his lunch, officials said.

Gate Falls
As the elevator lowered to the first floor, the wire gate on the first floor automatically was raised by the weight of the elevator. Officials said Lutz had stopped the elevator and was leaving it when the gate crashed down, striking Lutz and pinning him to the bottom of the elevator. Employees working nearby rushed to free the man from under the gate.

Lutz was taken to the hospital by Lindy's Ambulance Service and then transferred to the Bretschneider Funeral Home. Ironically, about 90 minutes after the fatal accident at the elevator gate, a low truck being operated near the accident scene, was backed against the elevator gate and crashed into the elevator. No one was injured in the second accident. Workmen were using cutting torches to remove the low truck from the metal gate.

ICC Chairman
Sees Railroads
As 'Healthy'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission took a long look at the nation's railroad industry today and declared the patient healthy and sound.

"They'll never be obsolete, no, sir," declared Abe McGee, 64, Idaho Republican who assumed the chair of the 11-man commission Jan. 1.

"The railroads have had a tremendous increase in long-haul traffic," McGee said in an interview. "I won't make any specific predictions about the future, but all of our railroads are in much healthier shape than they were last year at this time."

3 Soldiers, 7 Panamanians Killed, at Least 224 Hurt, Including 34 Servicemen

PANAMA (AP) — New gun fighting broke out today between U. S. troops and Panamanians on the border of the U. S. Canal Zone, adding more casualties to a toll of 10 dead and more than 200 wounded.

Among the dead were three U. S. soldiers. Thirty-four U. S. soldiers were wounded in the first fighting last night. There were 190 casualties.

Panama suspended relations with the United States and accused it of aggression. The fighting broke out last night when Panamanian students tried to plant their nation's flag in the U. S.-controlled Canal Zone. They acted after U. S. students raised the American flag in defiance of American officials.

Panama's government accused the United States of aggression and sent its case to international forums after rioting broke out when Panamanian demonstrators tried to plant their national flag in the Canal Zone.

Panama's ambassador to the United Nations, Aquilino Boyd, was en route to U.N. headquarters to file the charges of aggression with the U.N. Security Council.

In bitter words he told newsmen at Miami: "Panama has been the victim of unjustified oppression for 50 years."

He accused U. S. soldiers of causing unnecessary bloodshed.

President Roberto Chiari of Panama demanded that the Organization of American States launch an immediate investigation.

He vowed "to obtain justice for Panama once and for all" before whatever international bodies are necessary.

President Johnson was being kept advised of the situation.

The U. S. Army said its casualties occurred in the vicinity of the Tivoli guest house in the Canal Zone, a target of persistent sniper fire from Panamanians.

When the U. S. casualties mounted to four wounded, an army statement said, "The order was given to return the fire."

The army selected trained marksmen "for carefully returned fire," and six U. S. soldiers were wounded "before the sniper fire ceased."

Army officials stressed the point that none of its forces entered Panama territory during three to four hours of severe exchange of gunfire.

Rioting Panamanians attacked U. S. buildings in Panama City and Colon. They hurled stones and set fires. Damage ran into the thousands of dollars.

Traffic through the canal was suspended.

Johnson and Chiari Confer By Telephone

President Tries
For Settlement of
Crisis in Panama

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson conferred by telephone today with President Roberto Chiari of Panama, in an effort to settle peacefully the crisis in Panama.

Johnson initiated the 15-minute telephone conference. Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, declined to give details of the conversation, except to say:

"The two presidents agreed there had to be a stop to the violence in the Canal Zone."

Almost simultaneously, Johnson sent a group of U.S. officials to the Canal Zone by jet transport.

The leader of the delegation is Thomas C. Mann, the new assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs.

Mann is expected to confer personally with Chiari about the fighting that has flared since last night between Panamanians and American troops and police guarding the Canal Zone.

Johnson telephoned Chiari at 11:35 a.m. EST, shortly after winding up a 90-minute policy conference with top military, diplomatic and intelligence advisers.

State Lab Confirms Data on Murder

Spice Says Partial Report Tells Facts Known in Kilsdonk Slaying

A partial report from the State Crime Laboratory in Madison has confirmed what was already known about the early-morning slaying of Mrs. Florence Kilsdonk, 28, in her Black Creek home Dec. 18, Outagamie County Sheriff Calvin Spice said today.

Spice said the report covered evaluation of evidence found at the scene of the crime by local authorities and by field workers from the crime laboratory.

At the same time, Spice said, he is continuing to press the investigation "from all angles" in hopes a solution may be found. Mrs. Kilsdonk was stabbed nine times about the head and chest as she prepared Christmas candy in her kitchen. Her two-month-old son, Jeffery, lying on a table nearby, was not harmed.

The murder was discovered by Marvin Kilsdonk, the dead woman's husband, when he returned from work at a Menasha dairy.

Not Discounted
Spice has revealed that at least one suspect given a lie detector test in Green Bay immediately after the murder has not been completely discounted in the investigation.

Three men, including the dead woman's husband, were taken to Green Bay the day following the murder and given lie detector tests.

All three men were released after the test. Brown County Sheriff's Department has revealed the test given Marvin Kilsdonk was "inconclusive" and he was slated for further testing in Brown County sometime this month.

Several possible "weapons" which may have been used in the crime "have been checked out," Spice said. He did not elaborate on the types of weapons and what the tests showed. It is believed Mrs. Kilsdonk was killed with a heavy hunting knife, but no weapon was found at the scene of the crime. Spice said several knives "found elsewhere" have been turned over to his department for study, and have been sent to Madison.

Peddler Law Supported by Civic Group

New London C of C Will Present New Ordinance to Council

NEW LONDON — Directors of the New London Chamber of Commerce Wednesday night approved a peddlers ordinance and decided to submit the plan to the city council.

The ordinance, sponsored by the C. of C., was prepared by attorney Edward Macklin and City Atty. Sigurd Krostue. The ordinance was modeled after one now being enforced in Wisconsin Rapids.

Provisions state that all solicitors must have a license issued by the chief of police. After the license application is filed, there will be a waiting period. There will be no license fee. The ordinance requires that any New London resident who does direct selling or order-taking for merchandise also must have a license the same as transient solicitors.

The ordinance was backed by the chamber in hopes that requiring a license involving a waiting period, might discourage fly-by-night solicitors.

Another ordinance provision is that a solicitor must show his license to anyone upon demand.

The ordinance will be presented to the city council at its next meeting.

Clintonville Nuns Attend Conference

CLINTONVILLE — St. Rose Catholic School faculty members attended the monthly mathematics meeting at St. Mary School, Kaukauna, Wednesday. The in-service training course is part of the diocesan program aimed at better understanding and improved teaching methods of the newly-adopted math course.

Friday, Sister St. Thomas, principal and eighth grade teacher, attended a special math meeting at St. Patrick School, Green Bay.

Sister St. Raphael attended a recent recruitment coordinators meeting at St. Theresa School, Appleton. The nuns discussed a more effective method of renewing and increasing community membership of the Franciscan Sisters.

Sister Clare of St. Augustine School, Chilton, spent last week at the St. Rose Convent. She is a sister of Sister St. Thomas.

Airport Talks Still Possible

Letters of County Board Chairman Point to Review

Winnebago County's Board of Supervisors will learn this week that Outagamie County Board Chairman Alvin Fulcer is still holding the door open for possible talks between the two counties regarding a joint regional airport.

Fulcer, in a reply to a letter to Jack D. Steinhilber, Winnebago County district attorney and corporation counsel, said "should the Winnebago County board of supervisors officially request the Outagamie County board of supervisors to review the airport situations of the two counties as they presently exist, you can be sure such a request would be given proper consideration by the Outagamie County Board."

Steinhilber had written to Fulcer personally pointing out a section of a Winnebago County engineering report which recommended that Winnebago County determine whether Outagamie County will participate in studies of the feasibility and cost of a new joint airport in the Oshkosh and Neenah area.

Steinhilber said he was following the engineering recommendations in asking Fulcer's reaction. Steinhilber said he was acting in behalf of the Winnebago County aviation committee.

Five Proposed Buildings Would Range From $1.9 Million to $2.7 Million, Department Heads Told

NEW LONDON — Five proposed New London School District buildings would range in cost from $1.9 million to $2.7 million, school department heads were told Thursday night.

The two plans which would cost about $1.9 million are. A new three-year senior high school, including conversion of the present high school into a three-year junior high school for grades seven, eight and nine, and necessary remodeling and additions to the present elementary schools.

Construction of a new junior high school for grades seven, eight and nine, including additions to the present high school for grades 10, 11 and 12 and necessary remodeling and additions to the present elementary schools.

Other Plans
The other three plans are: New four year senior high school, utilizing the present high school for grades six, seven and eight and necessary remodeling and additions to the present elementary schools at an estimated cost of $2.4 million. A new junior high school for grades six, seven and eight, additions to the present high school for a four-year high school and necessary additions and remodeling to four-year high school and necessary additions and remodeling to the present elementary schools for an estimated cost of $2.7 million.

Two additions, one to Lincoln School for grades one - eight and one to Washington High School for a four-year senior high school, plus necessary additions and remodeling to the present elementary schools at an estimated cost of $2.3 million.

Delbert Beno, a board member at the meeting, said voters would have a choice in voting for a type of school in the coming referendum. Legal procedure for this type of a referendum remained undetermined.

It was expected plans for the various building programs would be available for board study at Tuesday night's meeting. Two of the main questions to be posed Thursday were the effect on parochial school students in the area and programming of teachers so they would not have to move from junior high school to the senior high school during the course of a day.

The Governor's New White Horse

The spectacle of Governor Reynolds feverishly searching for a spanking white charger which he can ride in the forthcoming campaign makes news almost daily from Madison. The campaign hasn't officially opened yet but our Governor ever since he started running for attorney general six years ago has been spending almost full-time at politicking.

Now he has come up with a new project, a junket to Europe, hopefully accompanied by a number of businessmen from the state, which he calls somewhat grandiosely a "trade mission."

There is some confusion over whose idea it is. In fact for a time it looked as if the state would have two such missions in Europe at about the same time, for Lt. Gov. Jack Olson was also planning to lead such a tour. With a Democrat and a Republican each taking a separate group, we were wondering why the Socialist party's representative in our state government, Frank Zeidler, didn't take one too and concentrate on Socialist countries like Sweden, or even Russia.

But now Olson has stepped aside in a sort of "after you, Gaston" act, although he suggests in his announcement that the Governor has purloined his idea. Olson says he started planning such a mission last July and did make his formal announcement Nov. 19. The Governor's plans started leaking out in October. He plans to leave March 8.

There is a good question how much support for the idea Reynolds will engender among businessmen in the state. In the first place he has given them rather short notice.

More important, however, is the fact that Wisconsin corporations interested in European trade are apt to take care of these contacts on their own and probably do not need much in the way of help from the Governor. We can't imagine Kimberly-

Clark, for example, gaining much from such a junket.

We suspect the main motive is publicity for Governor Reynolds and ammunition he can use later when he will need it to tell the people of his state what he has been doing to help business here.

The Governor almost earned a punch in the nose but settled for a verbal tongue lashing over another issue he sought to ride. At a press conference last Friday he charged that Republicans on the State Building Commission had decided that the state could not afford to provide infirmaries for mentally retarded children at the state colony at Madison. In particular he said that one man on the commission, Assemblyman McKay of Mequon, was blocking action on the buildings.

He picked a poor target. It turns out that McKay has two children of his own who are mentally retarded and he resented the Governor's inferences. "If I'd seen you Friday night, I probably would have punched you in the nose," McKay told him at a commission meeting this week.

McKay then proceeded to explain that the subcommittee he heads was given vastly different information on the need for the infirmaries than that quoted by the Governor. In fact, he said, if the Governor's statistics were right, the institution needs more rather than less infirmaries facilities. The building commission decided to delay action for several weeks until the facts could be straightened out.

An incumbent governor starts out with one big advantage in any campaign. He can use the attention his office generates to spark his campaign. Warren Knowles can't really swing into public action until after the state Republican convention. But we can expect that every statement and action which comes out of the governor's office from now on will be aimed at the polling places in November.

week sent to most state institutions instructions for beginning an anti-smoking educational program in the schools.

The instructions are explicit in suggesting that the schools begin non-smokers clubs, discuss the problem in many classes, bring in qualified speakers, place the non-smoker or the smoker-who-quit in a lofty status, and study and evaluate the program and make suggestions for its success.

Included in the instructions and considered by the department of education to be a primary factor in the success of its anti-smoking battle with young people are instructions that teachers should give wholehearted support to the program "and by their actions, set an example for the students to follow."

This, we would assume, would mean that teachers practice what they preach and make efforts to drop smoking. If it only be in the interest of the students they are to teach, we also concur with this idea.

West German visitors reported they found greater contempt for East German officials than before the Wall went up and much less concern about risks. Workers in a state-owned factory have demanded that the Wall come down and pointed out that "the Wall was erected by our government. Therefore it is up to our government to take the Wall down, and all discussions and negotiations about passes are superfluous." The Red argument that the Wall must remain as "a state border" to protect the East was exploded by the machine guns which killed an East German youth trying to escape to the West.

If there are more negotiations and future arrangements that will permit more travel between the two parts of Berlin for both those in East Berlin and West Berlin, the pressure will be eased in East Germany. There may be less chance of another explosion against the Communists. Westerners who want an uprising against the Reds are apparently right in arguing that dealing with officials of the German Democratic Republic may extend that government's existence.

But Westerners who want a revolt must then face up to what would be the result of such a revolt. Without active Western help, including the force of arms, the revolt is doomed to be crushed just as it was before in several satellites. Encouraging a revolt that cannot succeed without help and then withholding that help is not only inhuman; it is bound to increase even the image of communism.

In Berlin the free world is again faced with a decision about basic policy. What is the best way to defeat the forces of communism? In our opinion it is through Brandt's idea of more and more communication and a gradual lessening of the chains of Communist bosses while at the same time maintaining military strength to deter any military action. The alternatives are the conquering of the world by communism on the one hand or the waging of nuclear war on the other.

Allen-Scott Report

Warren Commission Planning Further Quiz of Mrs. Oswald

BY ROBERT S. ALLEN AND PAUL SCOTT

The intensive questioning of Mrs. Lee Harvey Oswald by the FBI and Secret Service has shed revealing light on some important facets of the many mysteries still surrounding her and her husband.

In the detailed reports submitted to the special commission headed by Chief Justice Warren, the government investigators make very clear that: —The 22-year-old Russian widow of the assassin is a thoroughly self-possessed, cool, calm and poised person, who is in full control of herself at all times. She has a complete grasp of what has happened, and what is taking place regarding her.

—Mrs. Oswald has an excellent IQ, and is quite well educated, with eleven years of formal schooling, including three years of pharmaceutical training. This is equivalent to a better than high school education in the U.S., and means she was rated well by Russian standards, as only talented youths, especially women, are given more than elementary schooling. She was a laboratory assistant when she met Oswald.

—While cooperating readily everything relating to herself with the investigators on even Oswald in this country, she has been reluctant and evasive in answering questions about their life in Russia and events leading up to his return to the U.S. — after apparently disavowing a written defection to the Soviet.

—Still to be learned from Mrs. Oswald are exactly how and when she met her husband, whether she reported their meetings to Russian authorities, as Soviet citizens are required when having relations with foreigners, and what dealings and contacts Oswald had with Russians and officials during his three years there.

On all these highly pertinent background points, Mrs. Oswald has been markedly "vague" and "fuzzy."

In discussing their life in the U.S., she is specific and positive about dates, individuals and events. But when interrogated about what transpired in Russia, her attitude and responses are decidedly different.

She never loses her temper or composure. But she also never reveals any more than she wants to.

MORE RIFLE TESTS — To get at the bottom of these significant matters, is the reason the special commission is bringing Mrs. Oswald to Washington late this month for direct grilling — behind closed doors. The full commission will participate in this questioning.

Eventually her testimony will be published, but not until the commission's inquiry is completed.

The commission also wants more information about the alleged murder rifle.

The FBI has been asked to conduct further tests on the time required to fire three shots. Reason for this is new evidence that the second and third shots came in exceptionally rapid succession. It was the third shot that shattered the back of the President's head, and fragmented. This has made very difficult determining whether that round was fired by the same rifle.

The Italian manufacturer of the rifle has been asked to submit certain information by the commission.

It also plans to send its own investigators to Mexico for a first-hand study of Oswald's mysterious trip there last September. At one session of the commission, J. Lee Rankin, general counsel, noted that the FBI learned from Mrs. Oswald that her husband left for Mexico on September 26, the day the White House announced Kennedy would go to Texas.

From Mexican authorities, the FBI has ascertained that Oswald arrived in Mexico City on September 27, took a room in a cheap hotel, and went immediately to the Cuban consulate where he sought a visa to Cuba for the avowed purpose of going from there to Russia.

According to the Mexicans, the Cuban consulate sent Oswald to the Soviet embassy. Still unknown is whether he actually went there and, if he did, what happened.

Strongly suspected by U.S. investigators is that Oswald was carefully preparing an escape route.

The special commission is also seeking from the State Department its Security Office's file on the killer. A record was compiled on him after he notified the Moscow embassy of intention to defect to the Soviet.

The commission also has asked the State Department for a detailed study it has made of the slaying of world leaders in the past 200 years.

Two Mexican Ports Blockaded

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Jan. 7, 1864.

Information has been promulgated from the State Department that orders have been sent by the imperial government of France to the commander-in-chief of the French naval force in the Pacific Ocean, to place in a state of blockade the Mexican ports of Acapulco and San Blas.

The Emperor of the French, however, has decided that American packets which constitute a line between Panama and San Francisco shall continue the privilege, notwithstanding the blockade, of touching at Acapulco in order to renew their stock of coal which they may need for the completion of their voyage.

It was understood, however, that these vessels shall not leave or receive any passengers at that port nor any merchandise.

Wisconsin Report

Original Election of Proxmire Fascinating Case in Retrospect

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — A background report of the Legislative Reference Bureau on the question of filling vacancies in legislative offices caused by deaths or resignations touches obliquely upon one of the fascinating episodes of recent Wisconsin state politics.

The report objectively notes that state laws require vacancies in the state legislature to be filled through the special election process, if they are to be filled at all, although the state law permits the governor to make a temporary appointment in the event a vacancy occurs in a Wisconsin seat in the U.S. Senate.

The latter circumstance, of course, relates to the special election for U.S. Senator held in 1957 following the death of the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, which brought about the election of William Proxmire, and in the perspective of six succeeding years, must be marked down as one of the turning points in the modern history of politics in this state.

THE BIG "IF"

The Proxmire victory in that special ballot represented an historic "breakthrough" for what was up until that time a minority party. As the Democrats say so exultantly today, they have won every major state-wide election since, in the capture of the governorship three times, in the subsequent re-election of Sen. Proxmire, and most recently, in the election of Sen. Nelson to another long-time Republican seat.

So it is not especially surprising that whenever a group of Republican politicians gathers for private talk about current events and political trends there is a spirited speculation about what might have been — if the Republicans who had the power to shape the state laws in 1957 had arranged for the appointment of a McCarthy successor rather than a special election.

Would a Republican appointee have managed to be re-elected in the following year, have helped to stave off the disaster that overtook the Republicans in their state ticket campaign, and thus prevented the gradual accumulation of Democratic power and prestige that today have put the state into a 50-50 partisan situation, with perhaps a shade of advantage to the former minority party?

The saddest word in the language is "if," especially in political events, but it seems fair to say that based only on the logistics of the situation the Republicans made a strategic error in declining to accept an appointment law when the senatorial vacancy came with McCarthy's death.

WHY?

Nor is it entirely clear today why they didn't do so. Such matters are not always discussed in public terms, on the record. As the incident is understood by most Republicans, it was not only a question of the reluctance of Vernon W. Thomson, then governor, to risk popular offense by eliminating the election, but an uncertainty and a division in the party about who should be appointed to such an eminently desirable post.

The selection of a man for such a plum among all of the eager aspirants known to be available would have been a dangerous task for the most confident and secure governor. It was far beyond the wishes of Gov. Thomson. Under the circumstances the Republican legislative leadership was not disposed to take the initiative, in spite of the importunings of some of the worried party organization leaders of that time.

There is a nice element of irony, as so often happens in politics, in the fact that the same Republican legislature, with a glance at the advanced age of the other senator of that period, wrote a new act providing that in the event of a future senate vacancy the governor could make a temporary appointment, pending the next regular election. Thus it turns out that today Gov. Reynolds, a Democrat, in such a situation could name a Democrat to the senate to fill a vacancy in the way the Republicans did not dare half a dozen years ago.

Problem: Need $4,000 To Aid Unwed Fathers

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

The luncheon meeting of the Lady Bountiful Society was called to order at 1 p.m., to discuss ways and means of meeting the $4,000 deficit incurred in running the society's prime charity — a convalescent home for unwed fathers.

The ladies at the luncheon were gathered to decide whether the deficit should be raised by a bail, a bazaar, a raffle, a theater party, or some other traditional way of extracting funds from a languid public.

Since there were exactly 40 present at the luncheon, it might seem that the simplest method would be to assess each woman there $100, and disperse with the folderol. But, of course, that was unthinkable.

"I suggest a costume ball," said Mrs. J. Spitz Thyroid, who was wearing a new $80 hat for the occasion. "We could raise at least $2,500 that way, and sell chances for door prizes on the side."

"Do you think we could?" questioned Mrs. Norman Nadir, whose husband had just that week purchased a $60,000 motorboat for deep-sea fishing. "But we can't have it in January, you know—everyone is away then."

"Oh, I don't know," weighed in Mrs. Ned Worthy. "Perhaps we need something original and different. After all, $4,000 is a lot to raise at one event." The thought just vaguely crossed her mind that if she and Ned had bought the Buick instead of the Bentley, the difference would have been $9,000. She hastily dismissed the thought.

"Well, ladies," said Madame President. "I'm sure we can't decide it today. Let's hold it over until next month, when we've all had a chance to think about it, and then we'll form a committee."

They trooped out gaily, expressions of sweet benevolence on their faces, representing aggregate wealth of seven million dollars, deeply concerned with the task of raising $4,000 for the underprivileged.

Senator Goldwater announces for President. You might call him a middle-of-the-roader—not as conservative as his backers and not as liberal as the voters.

Arthur Schlesinger, Jr., will leave the White House staff. Egg rolling is an old White House custom, but in this administration it appears that eggheads will roll.

Khrushchev sends a 21-page letter, urging that war be outlawed. That's one page for the proposal—and 20 for the loopholes.

Air Force Men Seem to Favor Piloted Bomber

But Few Would Challenge Missile Dependability

BY FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most Air Force officers have more confidence in the piloted bomber than they do in missiles.

But probably few would go as far as Sen. Barry Goldwater and challenge the dependability of this country's growing and improving force of Intercontinental Ballistic Missiles.

Goldwater, campaigning for the Republican presidential nomination in New Hampshire Thursday, called the ICBMs undependable and drew a blast from Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

Refuses Reply

The Arizona senator returned here Thursday night and refused to reply to McNamara's strong charge that Goldwater's statement was completely misleading, politically irresponsible and damaging to national security.

The United States now has a total of more than 550 ICBMs in firing position.

These include 234 liquid-fuel Atlas and Titan rockets and 320 solid-fuel Minutemen, advanced weapons which will make up the great bulk of this country's eventual arsenal of about 1,200 long range, land-based "birds."

The earliest model Atlases were of doubtful reliability. They took hours to load with fuel. They had lots of complex "plumbing" that was susceptible to breakdown, and the fuel could not be left in the missile tanks because it was highly corrosive.

As the U.S. missile builders learned, the weapons were improved.

The engineers developed a liquid fuel that could be stored indefinitely in the tanks of advanced Titans. These missiles can be launched within a minute, the Air Force claims.

The Minutemen are considered even more reliable, with their simplified solid fuel, and they are said to be able to fire in about half a minute.

The missile engineers have been working constantly to improve the range, accuracy and reliability of the big weapons.

This Car Was Overturned and Set afire Thursday night on President Kennedy Avenue in the Canal Zone as Panamanian students demonstrated against flying of American flag. The Panamanian students upset other autos, ransacked buildings and smashed street lights. (AP Wirephoto) not affected, but tension remained high in the morning hours.

This is the U.S. Army version of the chain of events:

At 4 p.m. Panamanian students entered the Canal Zone and planted the flag of Panama on the grounds of the Balboa High School alongside an American flag. They had the protection of canal police.

The U.S. students had hoisted their banner in defiance of instructions from the U.S. governor of the zone. He had ordered the dual flying of Panama and U.S. flags at selected sites in the zone in accord with an agreement reached between Panama and the United States last year recognizing Panama's titular sovereignty over the zone.

He had banned flags at schools, the U.S. District Court in Ancon and several other sites. U.S. flags were permitted in classrooms.

Students Riot

Police directed the students back into Panamanian territory, and along the route they smashed street lights and overturned garbage cans.

Then—under cover of darkness—mobs of Panamanians invaded the zone. They upset autos, ransacked buildings, set fires and stoned the Canal Zone police.

At 8 p.m., when the situation got out of hand, the Army was called. Gen. Andrew P. O'Meara, commander in chief of the U.S. southern command, put the area under military control.

A proclamation to that effect was broadcast in Spanish and English for more than an hour from a plane overhead.

At 8:30 p.m. U.S. troops arrived in force to assist the Canal Zone police.

Snipers Active

Casualties were caused by persistent sniper fire at soldiers protecting the Canal Zone in the vicinity of the Tivoli guest house near the center of downtown Balboa.

"As the casualties mounted to four wounded, the order was given to return the sniper fire," the Army said. "The Army selected trained marksmen for carefully directed return fire. A fifth soldier was seriously wounded in the head and a sixth was wounded before sniper fire ceased."

At 11 p.m. O'Meara announced that the situation was under complete control. To prevent a recurrence of violence, all persons not living and working in the Canal Zone were ordered out.

Panamanian Ambassador Augusto Guillermo Arango left Washington for Panama City, but there was no indication his government would recall other diplomatic personnel.

The Defense Department blamed the rioting on Panamanian mobs invading the Canal Zone. A department statement based on a military report from the scene said U.S. troops were called out after Canal Zone police failed to quell the rioters.

Envoy Leaves P. S.

Panamanian Ambassador Augusto Rango hurriedly left Washington for home.

The government said 145 persons were injured in Panama City and another 45 in Colon, at the Caribbean entrance to the canal. Ten were reported in critical condition.

One newspaper said all the dead were 20 or younger.

The demonstrators attacked U.S. property in Panama City and Colon, causing thousands of dollars in damage.

Fires were set at the U.S. information Agency building, the offices of Pan American and Braniff Airways, and tire recapping plants of the Goodyear and Firestone companies.

The U.S.I.A. building was described as a total loss.

Demonstrators also stoned the Chase Manhattan and National City Bank buildings and attempted to plant a flag on the grounds of the U.S. Embassy.

Situation Tense

The situation remained tense in Panama today, although the fighting subsided after midnight. Panamanians observed a day of national mourning.

Gen. Andrew P. O'Meara, commander in chief of the U.S. Southern Command with headquarters in the zone, ordered an investigation into the disorders.

O'Meara, attempting to prevent further incidents, ordered all Canal Zone residents not engaged in official duties to remain in their homes.

Canal Zone schools were ordered closed for the day. Included was Balboa High School, where the trouble began Thursday afternoon.

Largely attended by the children of U.S. personnel in the Canal Zone, students at the U.S.-operated school have been flying an American flag in front of the building. They have defied a recent order requiring joint display of American and Panamanian flags at various sites in the zone and no flags at all outside the schools.

Joblessness Drops Back to October Level

WASHINGTON (AP)—Unemployment, which had climbed to a 5.9 per cent rate in November, dropped back in December to the October level of 5.5 per cent, the Department of Labor reported today.

Total employment dropped seasonally by 700,000 to 68.6 million, but still was 1.1 million higher than December 1962.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said all the December decline in employment was in farm employment, reducing the farm total to 4 million, the same as December of last year.

Total unemployment was down 100,000 to 3.8 million during December, the bureau said. Normally it increases by about 100,000.

The bureau said a survey was taken in mid-December when most of those who wanted part-time work over the holidays either had found jobs, or had dropped their search. The count by the bureau includes only those actively searching for jobs.

Knowles Wants Renk Aboard GOP Bandwagon

MADISON (AP) — Warren Knowles, Republican candidate for governor, wants Wilbur Renk, Sun Prairie farmer and businessman, to join him on the Wisconsin GOP bandwagon as a candidate for the U.S. Senate.

"Renk would make an aggressive and energetic campaign and I believe we could team up and show people we are out to win," Knowles said Thursday at a news conference.

"He is an independent Republican. Some view him as a liberal or certainly a moderate Republican and he has great drawing power and respect."

Renk, who bid for the party's nomination for governor in 1962, said that he would announce next Tuesday whether he would seek the GOP nomination for senator and possibly oppose Sen. William Proxmire, the Democratic incumbent, in the November election.

Renk lost the 1962 nomination to Philip G. Kuehn of Whitefish Bay. Kuehn then lost the election to Democratic Gov. John W. Reynolds.

2 by GOP Governors 3 Welfare Programs Proposed in 1 Week

BY JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Times have changed.

In this single week Democratic President Johnson and two Republican governors — Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and George Romney of Michigan — all proposed welfare programs.

Johnson did it for the nation, the two governors for their states. This identity of purpose won't eliminate the bombast the two parties throw at each other in this year's political campaigns. But it does narrow the range a bit.

It wasn't until the days of Henry VIII and Queen Elizabeth that a government in what might be called the modern world acknowledged for the first time it had a responsibility for the general welfare.

Modest Start

The acknowledgment had a very modest beginning in the Elizabethan poor laws. The early settlers in this country brought the idea with them and it took form in poor houses.

The idea progressed about as fast as an elephant walking backwards across a frozen lake.

The Constitution mentioned the general welfare vaguely. The government did take responsibility for the welfare of the economy but not of needy people. The first Congress passed a tariff act to protect American business from imports.

But as late as the last half of the 19th century American presidents — specifically Pierce and Cleveland — were denying in very strong terms that this government had responsibility for the general welfare.

Same View

The Supreme Court had pretty much the same view. The idea began to grow, but still in baby steps, until the depression days of the 1930s when President Roosevelt's New Deal assumed responsibility in desperation to save the country.

This historic callousness to the welfare of the poor, the old, the unemployed, the handicapped, the ill is hardly surprising when it is remembered human slavery existed from antiquity, didn't start to get abolished in Europe until the 19th century and in this country had to be abolished by a war.

Even now there are probably still areas where slavery is a way of life, in its direct form in some places, and in peonage in others.

since peonage is just a nice-nellyism for the real thing.

Still the United States was tardy with its concern for people's welfare. By the mid-1930s, when it finally got around to Social Security and compulsory unemployment insurance, it was already a quarter of a century behind Britain.

Employment Act

And it wasn't until 1946—when Congress passed an employment act but refused to call it "full employment"—that the men on Capitol Hill for the first time declared the government did have responsibility for the general welfare.

But this was delayed recognition for what had already become an accepted fact of American life with its start in the social legislation of the New Deal. Presidents Truman, Eisenhower and Kennedy all accepted it and went on from there, as they would have anyway without the 1946 declaration.

Their election-conscious parties didn't urge any return to pre-welfare days.

Party Disputes

The disputes between the parties, as parties, was no longer whether to do something for the needy but only how much.

Nevertheless, there is still probably a part of the population which would like to go back to the attitude of the 19th century. But, judging from the election returns of the past 30 years, it is in a big minority.

Sen. Barry Goldwater has sounded unhappy about Social Security but he seems to have had second thoughts. At one point in his career he appeared to be saying the government ought to get out of welfare programs.

But last September, in an interview with U.S. News and World Report, he was asked if he would "phase out" various welfare programs.

Social Security

He said, "Oh, I don't think you can do that. Take Social Security, for example. I think it could be made flexible and voluntary in that, if a man didn't want to go under it, he wouldn't have to."

Thursday in New Hampshire—where Rockefeller and Goldwater are campaigning to get the Republican presidential nomination — the New Yorker look a crack at Goldwater for the views he expressed last September.

He said Goldwater advocated the conflict concerned who would take care of Marina and her two daughters. June Lee, who will be 2 in February, and Rachael, then one month old.

Oswald's mother contended Marina and the babies should move to her three-room duplex in Fort Worth.

Brother Differs

She said they could live off the $863 collected from her insurance policy on her son and on donations.

Oswald's brother, Robert, thought Marina and the babies should find a place of their own.

The mother said one or two of the Secret Service agents guarding them joined the argument. She also said a man who taught Russian at the Forth Worth library sided with Robert.

"I didn't even know what had been decided for Marina and the babies. They planned it all without even asking me. I asked them what the big idea was," Oswald's mother said.

Mrs. Oswald said Marina was confused, barely knew English and was unduly influenced by those who urged her to live separately.

The mother announced she was leaving the motel, regardless of what the agents wanted. She didn't see her daughter-in-law or grandchildren again.

Social Problem

Pipe Smokers Bound to Make Someone Mad

BY WICK TEMPLE

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—A pipe smoker is a lot like a porcupine. Sooner or later he's bound to make somebody mad.

Pipe smoking presents a new social problem for those who can't already have enough. If one's wife likes the smell of his tobacco, his boss can't stand it, or vice versa.

A pipe tobacco that suits everyone usually tastes like mud. I have been a pipe aficionado for several years and have made an involuntary study of reactions of various people to the habit. Some politely cough. Others cry.

Innocent Question

"Does this pipe bother you?" the smoker asks innocently.

"Oh no (gasps), not at all."

Yet pipe smoking has its brighter side. Many women are enchanted by the smell and can't get close enough to the gentleman with the bair.

Smoking a pipe progresses from an experiment to a habit to a hobby to an obsession. But hobby is the best word for it. Every veteran pipe smoker takes pride in his rack. He may not have smoked certain pipes for years, and his wife badgers him to throw them out. But each one holds certain sentimental significance.

The one with the crooked stem and the lion carved on the bowl was bought in the mountains and dropped into a stream the day you caught that five-pound bass.

The yellow-stemmed pipe ings against the use of knives or other simple objects for operating on pipes.

There are four main kinds of pipes. The briar is cut from roots of briar plants around the Mediterranean. Meerschaum is dug in Asia Minor. The calabash, perhaps the most rare and often most prized, is a South African gourd.

The only truly American pipe is the corn cob. Its place in history was assured when Gen. MacArthur stepped down from a Pacific beach with the stem of one clamped between his teeth.

Mexican Art Exhibit

Sensational Success

Popularity of Masterworks Prompts
Extension of Los Angeles Showing

BY BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The line of people waiting to see the show sometimes extends around the block. On Sundays 4,000 have been turned away. It has been such a hit that it has been held over.

A new movie or stage sensation? No — some of the attractions in this show are 3,500 years old. It is the masterworks of Mexican art exhibit at the County Museum.

The museum has asked for and received from the Mexican government an extension of the show until Feb. 23 — it was to close last week. By happy coincidence, President Johnson and President Lopez Mateos will be meeting in Los Angeles Feb. 22, and it is hoped that they will visit the show.

Such a distinguished visit would further enhance the remarkable success of the Mexican art exhibit, which demonstrates, says museum director Dr. Richard F. Brown, "the public's hunger for first-class art events."

Brown expects a quarter of a million persons will have seen the show when the five-month run ends.

Many Come Back

"The number of repeats is amazing," he said.

What they see is a rich panorama, ranging from the vigorous pre-Columbian statuary to the modern classics of Rivera and Orozco to richly imaginative crafts of rural Mexico. Acquisition of the exhibit was a coup for Los Angeles since it has appeared in no other American city.

"The exhibit had toured 12 European cities and the Mexican government was getting a bit edgy about having its treasures gone so long," Brown related.

Called to Washington

Brown had pleaded for the exhibit but the authorities made no decision. Then he and museum directors of other American cities were summoned to the Mexican Embassy in Washington last March to discuss possibilities.

"Fortunately my Spanish is pretty good," said Brown. "Also fortunately, I was placed at dinner beside the ambassador's wife and opposite the director of the exhibit. My pleas were fervent."

They also proved effective. Consent was granted.

Cameramen Real Stars of Orient Express

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Another illusion was demolished Tuesday night as NBC lightheartedly stripped the glamor from the famous Orient Express, the once great train that travels bi-weekly from Paris through seven countries to Istanbul.

It was partly because correspondent Edwin Newman's trip was so completely uneventful and uncomfortable that the record of the journey was a perfectly delightful hour of television. To be thoroughly savored, it had to be seen in color. The scenery and the quick tours of cities along the route were magnificent.

Real stars of the show were the cameramen who shot the beautiful sights along the way. Even without dining cars or assassins, it was a wonderful trip for the armchair traveler.

Newman, looking every inch a man of sinister mystery, boarded the train in Paris by night, chatting merrily about the reputation of the trains, beloved by writers like Agatha Christie and Graham Greene. From 1883 on it carried royalty, millionaires and probably even international thieves and spies in sumptuous style across Europe.

Moliere Comedy At Miller Theater Highly Praised

MILWAUKEE (AP) — "Tartuffe," Moliere's comedy of hypocrisy and deception, was presented in a new, award-winning translation Wednesday before a capacity opening night audience at the Fred Miller Theater.

The play, translated by Pulitzer Prize winning poet Richard Wilbur who was in the audience with performances every night but Monday and matinees on Wednesday and Saturday.

Well cast with Philip Minor as Magic Shop, on The Alfred Hitchcock Hour, is a chilling Mary Doyle as Dorine, the wise-necromantic drama based on a cracking maid. Moliere's class-H. G. Wells story. John Megna adds worthwhile fare for the "Birthday Boy" whose Wisconsin theatre goes. trip with father Leslie Nielsen. Critical summary: The audi-to a magic shop leads to an im-mence, as Miss Doyle so appropriate nightmare for the fa-tely tells the case during the ther, and a long range bit of comedy, will go away "Tartuffe" horror for the family.

Lee Remick and James Garner play the romantic leads in a zany sort of way in the comedy "The Wheeler Dealers," currently playing at the Viking Theater in Appleton and the Raulf Theater in Oshkosh. Miss Remick, in her first comedy, portrays a lady stock broker in the movie and Garner is the tall Texan who tries to take over New York and Wall Street. Assisting Garner as big spenders and big romancers are Chill Wills, Phil Harris and Charles Watts. Patricia Cowley also has a featured role in the film.

Woman Who Spends Her Time Planting Doubts Not Friend

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband sells encyclopedias direct to the consumer. He makes very good money. is a fine father and husband and we've never had any trouble that couldn't be talked out in one evening.

Because of the nature of my husband's Ann Landers work he often has to make evening calls. I never thought a thing about it until a friend of mine asked if I had any proof that he was going where he said he was. Did he ever leave a number where he could be reached? Did he ever come home too late or too tired to be much of a husband? I admit she raised some doubts in my mind.

I've been examining his clothes for lipstick and can't find a trace. There are no bobby pins or red-tipped cigarette butts in the car ashtrays. In other words, not a shred of evidence. What does this sound like to you? — Big Question

Dear Big: It sounds like your friend's mouth would make the Grand Canyon look like a buttonhole.

A man who does direct selling should not be phoned at the home of a prospective customer.

And as for that last question. Toots, did your husband ever come home and find you too tired to be much of a wife? Does that mean you were cheating on him in the afternoon? Use your head, Girl. Your friend is no friend.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a high school junior, 17 years of age, and want you to answer a simple question in the newspaper so my folks can see it with their own eyes.

Why shouldn't a 17-year-old girl who makes good grades, is on the school paper, is a cheerleader, and holds a class office be allowed to date during the week?

I started to date when I was a freshman, and I've always behaved like a lady. At present my Numero Uno is a college freshman. We are not going steady but I'm afraid he might fall hard for someone else if I can only see him three times a week. I need your help. — Never on Weekdays

Dear Never: A 17-year-old girl should be at home evenings during the week. The reason you've done well in school is because your parents have been bright enough to keep you under control.

High school homework is poured on mighty heavy these days and kids who date during the week can't possibly do justice to their assignments. Three dates a week is a great plenty for Numero Uno. It's always best to keep a boy friend wanting just a little more of your company.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You were wrong when you told "Miss Inquisitive" that a left-handed handshake has no special meaning. I will quote from the manual "Tenderfoot to Queen Scout."

"When a famous Ashanti Chief surrender to Lord Baden-Powell the latter extended his right hand as a token of friendship. The chief insisted on shaking with the left hand, explaining that the bravest of the brave shake hands with the left hand, since, in order to do so, he must throw away his greatest protection — the shield." Scouts shake hands with the left hand as proof of their good faith and true friendship.

—Calgary, Alberta

Dear Cal: Your reference to the Queen Scout suggested that the southpaw approach was strictly a custom of our Canadian neighbors. After checking with my Silver Beaver friends in Chicago I learned that the left-handed handshake among Scouts is universal. Thank you for cluing us in on the interesting background.

Ann Landers* will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelop.

Cook Pork Well to Avoid Trichinosis

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Should children be fed extremely rare meats? I am old-fashioned, I know, but as youngsters we were served only meat that was well-done. In fact, we were told we would get pinworms from eating raw meat.

MRS. D. W. S. Molner
Raw meat is not a source of pinworms, but it can result in other types of worms.

Pork can cause trichinosis, or infestation with a worm which lays eggs, and then when these hatch, the larvae burrow into muscle tissues in many parts of the body.

Thorough cooking destroys these worms — so never, under any circumstances, eat pork unless it is well done.

Lamb and beef are different. They do not come from meat-eating animals, so the threat of trichinosis is not present.

But they can be the source of tapeworms at times.

They should be reasonably well-cooked to eliminate this risk.

By that I mean they should be cooked at least to what we call medium rare, for people who like meat that way.

"Very rare" means uncooked at the center. This can be potentially harmful. Not all beef or lamb will have tapeworm, of course, in which the rare meat eaters are lucky. But what we are concerned with is avoiding the occasional risk.

Controls Sex
Dear Dr. Molner: What about the removal of an ovary? I have two girls, one born before my operation and one after. Does this mean I will have only girls?

MRS. B. J. T.
No, it doesn't. You may have only girls — or you may have nine boys from now on. It isn't the ovaries, but the chromosomes in one of the cells, which control the sex.

Suggests Surgery
Dear Dr. Molner: I have a cyst on the edge of my lower eyelid.

An ophthalmologist says it must be removed surgically to prevent recurrence. Do you think this is necessary? I am so afraid of having my eye cut.

H. D. L.
Yes, that's the right way. A cyst can be relieved temporarily by puncturing or cutting the top off, but it seals itself and grows again. The only way to get rid of a cyst permanently to remove it.

Enlarged Prostate
Dear Dr. Molner: My bladder doesn't empty completely. Even though I urinate often, the amount voided is very small. Is this caused by the prostate gland? Someone told me an operation might be necessary. I am 66.

M. B.
This is a common result of an enlarged prostate. The cause is not known but it happens to a great many men. The surgery likewise is common, and your age certainly is not a barrier to it.

What about constipation? Many can be relieved of it, both mentally and physically, by reading the booklet "The Way To Stop Constipation." For a copy write to Dr. Molner in care of the Post-Crescent, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope, and 20 cents in coin to cover printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Improved Construction, Quality Applauded

Buyers at the International Home Furnishings Market this week expressed approval at the greater quality of craftsmanship shown by manufacturers displaying their lines at the American Furniture Mart and The Merchandise Mart. They concurred that medium-price furniture offers more lasting quality and greater value than ever in the past.

The public has been clamoring for better workmanship, they note, and this year's market shows the power of its demand. Not only are finishes more beautiful than ever, but construction factors and hand work are combined for lasting durability and handsomeness.

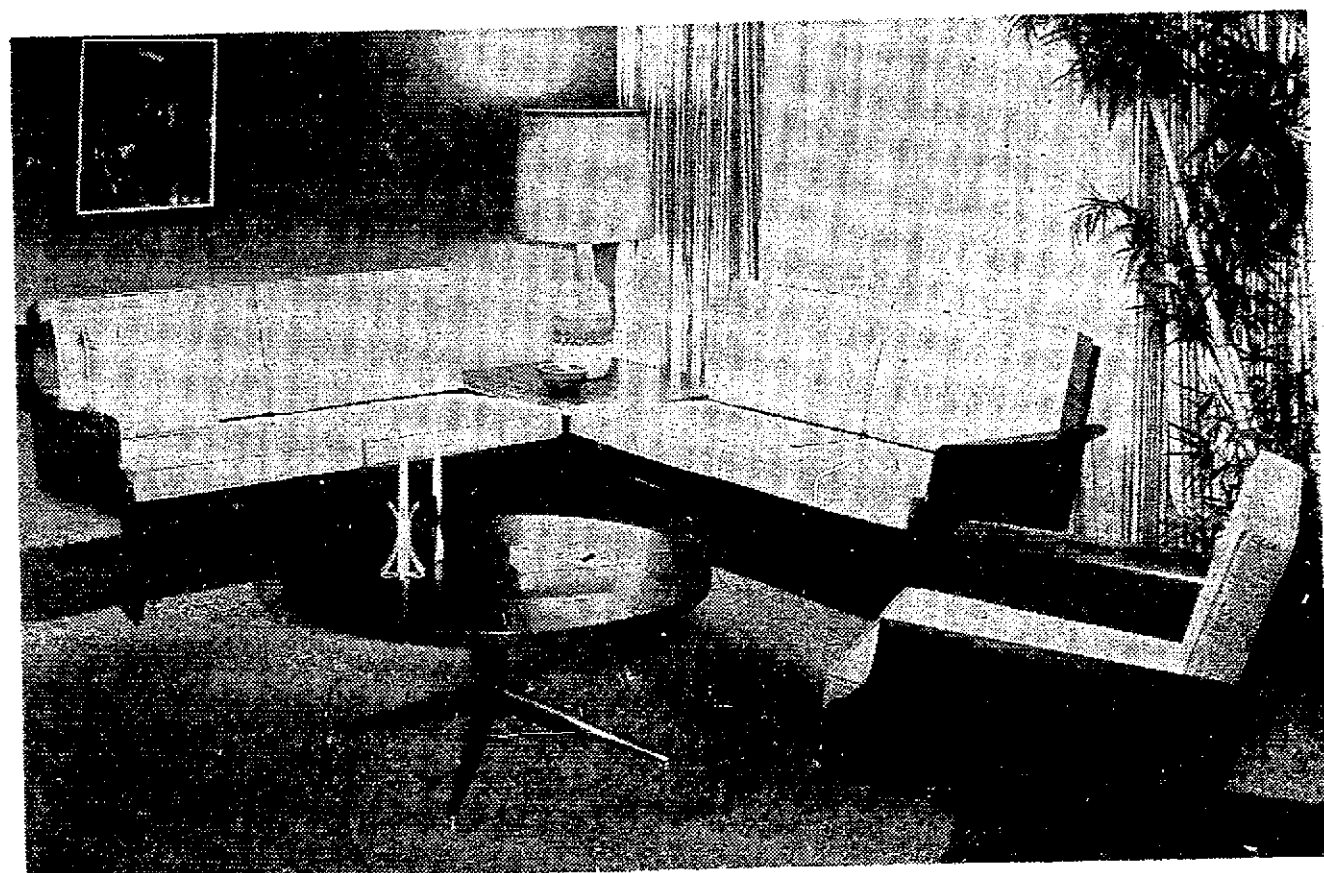

Shown here are examples of the continued popularity of the Early American designs, with pine and cherry woods added to ever-important maple. The clean spare look of modern, designed to make a room appear more spacious, was also a hit at the January market.

Serving Is Easy and Elegant when everything can be placed on a handsome tea cart, like the one of cherry above. It has swivel casters and large artillery wheels for smooth manipulation, and removable tray and drawer for added convenience. With its drop leaves raised, it forms a comfortable table for two. The cherry chairs have hand-woven rush seats. Below, a new living room group appears more spacious with smart walnut veneer molded arms and airy pedestal bases of strong wood-grain embossed steel. The two sectionals may be locked together for a 106-inch sofa.

Rugged and Rustic is the antiqued pine above, enhanced by a new mellow finish. The glazed and highlighted finish produces a worn effect on the edges of a generously scaled dining room group, with a 70-inch trestle table that can extend to 100 inches. The set is completed by a huge and handsome buffet and hutch, and high back side and arm chairs. At left is the popular rocking chair, decorated by hand as it was done in Colonial times. Highly skilled craftsmen apply color with little pieces of cotton, achieving the delicate shadings that distinguish the best products of that era. The fine gold edgings are also applied by hand. The straight-backed Cape Cod rocker and curved-back Boston rocker both come in all-white, all-black or all-nutmeg.

Battle of Spaghetti Fought, Won at Annual UCT Dinner

Richard Lorenz can handle his dinner with one hand, leaving the other free for a bottle of orange drink. His aplomb and self assurance were so great that a bib was superfluous. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lorenz, Menasha. At right, Kathleen Kesler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Kesler, goes all the way in her manipulation of that stringy stuff. No matter how difficult the engagement, all the youngsters managed to join the 'clean plate club.'

It's the men who do the mixing of the savory meat sauce and ladle the steaming kettles of spaghetti onto huge platters. But it's the children who enjoy the eating.

The United Commercial Travelers and Auxiliary held their annual spaghetti dinner Saturday evening at the Masonic Temple. As always, the event was a bib and tucker affair, with bibs in predominance. The youngsters struggled with the long and dangling stems of spaghetti, sometimes with a fork, occasionally resorting to the two-hand method.

James Mullins was chairman of dinner arrangements.

Tony and Cindy Czarnik, children of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Czarnik, were all wrapped up in their work Saturday evening at the Masonic Temple. Tony isn't quite sure that his sister's method is good manners, and debates whether or not to try the bird approach himself. Below, Steve Lorenz, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Lorenz, knew his way around a plate of spaghetti. He's been at such dinners before. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Sheinwold Unlucky Player Digs Grave

Some people are born to be unlucky. When they're at the bridge table they'll find a way to lose the contract even if there's a far simpler way to make it.

East won the first trick with the ace of clubs and returned at low trump. South played low, losing to the king with an air of resignation. After all, South knew how unlucky he had always been.

East returned a trump, and South cashed the king and ace of hearts. No luck there. The suit would provide only one diamond.

Declarer led a diamond from dummy and lost the queen to West's king. Back came the nine of diamonds, and dummy's ten lost to the jack. Down one.

"Three finesses wrong and a 5-1 suit break," South remarked bitterly. "Finesses work for some people, but not for me."

Overlooked Finesse

South had eyes but they saw not. He had overlooked the only finesse worth taking.

It was all right to take the losing trump finesse since South had to draw trumps. After the second round of trumps, however, South should cash the king of hearts and then lead a heart to finesse with dummy's ten.

As the cards lie, this finesse works. South can get rid of two diamonds on dummy's ace and queen of hearts, and can eventually afford to give up a diamond.

South would still make the contract even if East had the jack of hearts. Then the finesse of dummy's ten would lose, but the suit could break no worse than 4-2. Dummy's A-Q-7 would surely be good for three diamond discards.

Daily Question

As dealer, you hold: S A Q J 9 4 H K 5 D Q 5 4 2 C 6 3. What do you say?

Answer: Bid one spade. You have 12 points in high cards, 2 points for the doubletons, and a fine major suit. This is quite enough for an opening bid.

Radiator Valve Is Clogged

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: A bedroom radiator valve (steam) seems clogged. How can I clean the inside of this?

A: Remove the valves and boil in vinegar for about five minutes, allowing the valve to cool in the liquid. Then slosh it around in the vinegar, followed by thorough rinsing in clear water, shaking off any excess. This should get out any accumulation on the inside of the valve, and clear the air holes.

Q: The old house we have been using for vacations, is badly in need of repainting of the plaster walls. We plan to do this ourselves. First, I will have to repair the walls which are cracked in a lot of places and have a few holes. How is the patching plaster mixed?

A: Spackle is the easiest material to use; follow easy instructions for mixing on the box. It is also available in paste, as well as powder form. Ready-mixed patching plaster, mixed according to manufacturer's directions, is more likely to have accurate proportions of the ingredients.

The usual plaster mix is one part gauging plaster to two parts lime. First, add the water to the lime until it has a putty-like consistency, then add the dry gauging plaster. Mix thoroughly.
